DEATH STALKS HOLIDAY ROADS AGAIN

New Year Wishes Include YMCA Idea

City Telephone Survey Reveals Kids' Recreation No. 1 Concern

Increased recreation facilities for Circleville's youngsters seems to be uppermost in the minds of local residents.

This was the line of most comments made when The Herald conducted another telephone survey during the holiday season and asked, "What is your New Year's wish for the city?"

Here are the replies, several of them echoing the sentiments of Ed Grigg, local plant manager for General Electric, who last week suggested a YMCA building here: George Hartman, superintendent of city schools—"I second the idea of a YMCA here. It could provide swimming facilities under proper supervision. Also, I hope we continue to receive the fine police protection in the city which we have had during the past year."

Mrs. Gladden Troutman, housewife—"We surely need a YMCA for the teenagers. It could serve a lot of purposes. For example, there is no place in town now where church sponsored sports teams can play. Some of the churches would like to have teams but there just isn't any place to hold the events."

NOT ALL the comments were centered only on the YMCA idea. Others wished for expansion of present facilities:

William Ammer, county prosecutor and president-elect of the Circleville Kiwanis Club—"We need another recreation area in the south end of Circleville. Also, I wish for an expansion of the present facilities, including Ted Lewis Park. It just doesn't seem to be enough to take care of all the needs of the kids in the city."

Ed Webb, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce—"We need more park facilities in town for the kids. Our group is working on this now. But the big thing we are wishing for is a new grandstand out at the Fairgrounds, something we have been striving for during the past few years."

Ben Gordon, president of city council—"I wish people would show more interest in Ted Lewis Park. There is a lot more that can be done at the park. Also, I would like to see a more concentrated drive on fixing streets in the city and keeping them clean. I realize that a lot of this is hampered by a lack of funds."

Ray Friend, local plant superintendent for Ralston-Purina Co.—"I wish more parents would take an interest in kids' activities. It's pretty frustrating to kids to carry on projects and not have their parents care one way or another. It would also help if we had more money to carry out the numerous civic projects in the city. Then we could get down to business and get to a solution more quickly."

Patsy Smith, student at Circleville High School—"I wish we had a swimming pool in the city. Sometimes it's pretty tough getting out of town to find a pool. Also, I hope we get a new place to hold band practice. But I understand this may come about soon."

MORE REALISTIC wishes were expressed in the following manner:

Elmer Merriman, chief of Circleville police—"I wish for another successful traffic record for the city next year. We did pretty good in 1955 in Circleville. I sure wish that drivers would be more careful, though."

Talmer Wise, Circleville fire chief—"I wish for a fire-free year in the city. It may sound funny coming from me but it's what I would like to see. A lot of the damage from fires can be called unnecessary—fires usually start from carelessness."

Regardless of their individual wishes, all wished a happy and prosperous New Year for Circleville.

Farmers' Income Continuing Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department says prices received by farmers for their crops and livestock dropped 1 per cent between mid-November and mid-December.

This downturn is a continuation of a trend over the last several months. The department said the decline for the month ending Dec. 15 left farm prices 7 per cent below those of a year previous.

Continued declines in prices received by farmers for hogs, cattle and cotton were primarily responsible for the drop.

Lost String Fails To Halt Violinist

NEW YORK (AP)—Russian violinist David Oistrakh, with a quick assist from an orchestra member, surmounted a broken "E" string crisis during a Carnegie Hall concert yesterday and smoothly went on with the program.

Oistrakh, accompanied by the New York Philharmonic, has just begun the last movement of Shostakovich's "Violin Concerto" when the string snapped.

Michael Rosenker, assistant concertmaster of the orchestra, quickly handed his violin to Oistrakh, and the music continued almost without interruption.

LONG WAY TO GO!

Hark, Ye Who Mourn For 1955! Siren Will Help You Wail Tonight

Circleville's new air raid siren will help wail out the old year and blow in the new at midnight tonight.

Civil Defense Director Bernard Tait announced that the siren will be added to all the other whistles and bells—and whoopee yells—when the clocks hit twelve and push old 1955 into history. The siren is located atop the Pickaway Grain elevator here, and Tait has asked rural residents to write and tell him how clearly they can hear the alarm in their home localities.

Meanwhile, several district churches planned special services tonight to observe the deeper meaning of the old year's end and the new year's beginning. Sunday is New Year's Day on the calendar, but the observance is also extended over Monday.

The Circleville Herald will not be published Monday.

EARLY weather forecasts promised a traditional cold New Year's Eve, with a chance of snow flurries in the northern sections of the state. It should warm up a bit Sunday afternoon, weather forecasters said.

Circleville Police Chief Elmer Merriman has reminded those who plan to make merry that all taverns must close at midnight tonight. The law, he warned, is going to be rigidly enforced.

As the long week-end began and the nation watched the highways in fear of another record accident toll, the early reports in Pickaway County were encouraging. Law enforcement officers, out in full strength to bear down on careless motorists, had little to report early Saturday as the traffic gained volume through the district.

In a special bulletin today, the Ohio Department of Highway Safety told how five statewide associations have teamed up against drunken drivers and other traffic violators. The last-minute reminder was issued by U. C. Felty, director of the state safety branch.

The five groups which Felty asked to join the State Highway Patrol in an "aggressive campaign" against drunken drivers and careless holiday driving are:

THE OHIO Association of Chiefs of Police, the Buckeye State Sheriffs Association, the Ohio Municipal Judges Association, the Ohio Association of Common Pleas Judges, and the Buckeye Retail Liquor Dealers Association, which represents 2,400 Ohio tavern keepers.

Efforts to discourage drunken driving this weekend will run the full gamut from dissuasion of "one for the road" to intensified apprehending on the streets and highways and severe sentencing upon conviction, Felty stated. Earlier, Felty had said he hoped that "the tragic toll of the Christmas weekend would have a sobering effect on the minds of motorists and pedestrians alike."

Tale Of Wind In Montana Made Up Of Prize Hot Air

BURLINGTON, Wis. (AP)—Bagging the Burlington Liars' Club top award for 1955 was a breeze for a Westerner and his story of a Big Montana blow and a sack of flour. Judges of the world-famous phony tale club gave the nod, and temporary possession of a "diamond-studded medal" to Claude T. Yerkes of Kalispell, Mont.

Yerkes told about a sheep herder who lived in a small trailer house, and had his provisions brought out by the owner of the sheep.

"On this particular occasion," Yerkes said, "the provisions included a 100-pound sack of flour for which there was no room in the trailer, so the herder drove a

More Power In City Hall Claimed Need

COLUMBUS (AP)—An Ohio State University professor says City Hall needs more power.

Writing in the current issue of the Northwestern University Law Review, Prof. Harvey Walker of Ohio State's political science faculty, says:

"Local government must get out from under the thumbs of the state legislatures and the courts so that the cities can provide the services their citizens want, and get the money to pay the costs."

He recommended four steps as remedies to strengthen the city's position:

1. Kill and bury certain legal rules which are the basis for many court decisions against the cities.
2. Abandon the concept that whatever the state undertakes to do is ipso facto denied to the local governments.
3. Pay for local services by local taxes, and for state services through state taxes.
4. Substitute the will of the majority of a local government's residents for external pressure or compulsion by the state.

Congress Leaders Set For Session

Chieftains Combine Youth, Age; Face Election Year Troubles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four men who provide a combination of youth and age along with experience and reputations for hard work will guide Congress in 1956.

The "big four" on Capitol Hill during the new session opening Tuesday will be:

Sam Rayburn, 73, who has been Speaker of the House for more than 11 years in all—longer than any other man.

Lyndon B. Johnson, like Rayburn a Texas Democrat, whose selection as Senate Democratic leader three years ago at 44 made him the youngest.

Joseph W. Martin Jr., 71, a Massachusetts Republican who has led his party colleagues in the House for 17 years and served four years as Speaker.

William F. Knowland, 47-year-old Californian whose rise to the Senate GOP leadership in 1953 made him one of the youngest majority leaders in history.

THEY FACE a major task in a presidential election year.

The Democrats control both House and Senate and the Republicans hold the presidency and its empire of executive agencies. Not only the White House, but all House seats and one third of the Senate seats will be at stake in November.

Rayburn and Martin, Johnson and Knowland will have their hands full in closing party ranks behind party programs while still encouraging the moderation and compromise that are necessary to legislative accomplishments.

Rayburn has been a staunch supporter of the Democratic program since he entered Congress with the first administration of Woodrow Wilson.

He may find it harder to keep his own temper in check as the partisan spirit fans hotter. The same goes for Martin, a House member since 1925 and a GOP stalwart long before that.

Johnson has the added personal problem of a heart attack suffered last July which is expected to slow down the strenuous pace at which he had driven himself as Senate leader.

Knowland's biggest difficulty may stem from his evident intent to run for President if President Eisenhower decides against another bid. The outspoken Californian makes no secret of his differences with Eisenhower over foreign policy. As a campaigner for President, he might be stressing his opposition to parts of the Eisenhower program while, as Senate GOP leader, he'd be expected to help it.

'Human Torch' Boy Dies In Hospital

CLEVELAND (AP)—Twenty-five days ago, Earl R. Fryman, 17, lurched naked and bleeding through the rear entrance of a hospital. He was chained to a tree limb and burns covered 80 per cent of his body.

The youth, who gasped to hospital attendants a story about having been "set afire" by three teenagers died last night.

His story was not believed by police, who suggested Fryman planned a hoax to avoid going to school and got more seriously burned than he had intended.

3,500 Expected At Communion

ATHENS (AP)—An interdenominational celebration of communion in a New Year's Eve service will highlight the next to last day of the Ecumenical Conference on the Christian World Mission in session on the Ohio University campus.

The entire delegation of 3,500 Christian church students, representing more than 50 denominations and 80 countries, is expected to participate. The Rev. Henry Hobson, bishop of the diocese of Southern Ohio of the Episcopal Church, will be celebrant.

She Said 'Hello' And Phone Hurt Her

DENVER (AP)—When she said "hello," the telephone fell off the wall and struck her, Mrs. Shirley L. Reibschied, a housewife, said here yesterday in a lawsuit for $56,448 damages.

She said she was confined for 14 days with a broken nose, and other injuries. She's suing the Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Co. and the department store in which the pay telephone was located.

420 Expected To Be Killed This Weekend

5 Fatalities Recorded By Ohio In First Few Hours Of Check Period

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Although it has a long way to go to match last weekend's record, Death already is coveting on the highways during this New Year's Day holiday.

During the three-day Christmas holiday, at least 629 Americans died violently in traffic accidents. The National Safety Council expects 420 to lose their lives this weekend.

On a nationwide basis, traffic deaths in the early holiday were about 50 per cent below the heavy toll in the first part of the long Christmas holiday.

Early reports showed at least 24 persons had been killed in auto accidents since the count started. In the corresponding period a week ago, the traffic toll was approximately 50.

Police were alerted for emergency action aimed at holding down the traffic toll. Drastic traffic law enforcement was ordered by officials after the Christmas weekend record.

Four states, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Arizona, ordered national guardmen to help patrol highways. Planes were being used in Illinois and Louisiana to scout above highways. Extra police were ordered on duty in many cities.

In Ohio, at least five persons were killed on Buckeye roads during the early hours of the holiday period beginning at 6 p. m. yesterday.

George Samuel Roland, 35, of near Waldo, was killed after he was hit by a car on U. S. 23, 10 miles north of Delaware.

Clyde Fletcher, 40, of near Oberlin, was struck and killed by a vehicle on a county road near Lorain the state highway patrol reported.

A PENNSYLVANIA man was killed and five others injured in a three-car accident on U. S. 42, about 15 miles southeast of Hamilton. The state highway patrol identified the victim as Alvin Adams, 17, of Grindstone, Pa.

Bruce Howard, 60, of near Junction, was struck by a car on Ohio 151, south of Steubenville.

Thomas J. Hannon, 22, of Shaker Heights, was run over by his own car when he threw from the vehicle Ned Dearborn, head of the National Safety Council, has praised an article written by Bob Conlaine, columnist for International News Service.

420 Expected To Be Killed This Weekend

In the article, Considine said in part:

"Then Herod, perceiving that he was deluded by the Wise Men, was exceedingly angry, and killed all the male children that were in Bethlehem and in the borders thereof. . . . Matthew 2:13-18.

When it comes to the Slaughter of the Innocents, Herod was a crude amateur compared to the American motorist. Herod's men went by foot or springless chariot, needed many swings of their two-edged swords, probably had to take some punches from outraged relatives of the victims.

Nof our slaughterer! He prowls about behind the protective armor of a heavy steel envelope powered by the equivalent of upward of 150 horses. He doesn't need a second swing with his 20th century version of a Herod sword. He can wipe out an entire family of innocents while speeding at a rate which would cause Herod to faint from fright.

The modern slaughterer goes Herod one better. He generally makes the slaughter complete by killing himself, too.

The grisly death rate of innocents and slaughterers exceeded 600 over the Christmas weekend. Death, whose shroud and cackle now are as much a part of the holiday season as Santa and his stomachy chuckle, asks you a question on the brink of the next scheduled Slaughter of the Innocents.

With the knowing leer of a quiz-master, Death asks:

"Want to try for 700?"

Well, do you? It's the easiest quiz on the air—or on the road. You can get the answer—the grave, disfigurement, lost time and money—by beating a traffic light, taking a long chance to save a short time, taking just one more "for the road," insisting you can drive with a snuffout, venturing out on icy roads when you could stay put, driving though inattentive or exhausted, etc.

More Americans were killed for preposterously small reason last weekend than laid down their lives for the United States Navy in the Revolutionary War (342) or the War of 1812 (265) or the Mexican War (15).

Imagine! More people winding up bashed against trees, without cause, than died in the creation of much of our history.

Organist! play "Adeste Fideles" for those now living who'll never know another Christmas.

Bitter Clash Is Finale To Vote Campaign

French Due To Ballot Monday On Makeup Of New Government

PARIS (AP)—Bitter political battling over charges of atrocities in Algeria brought the French election campaign to a heated close today. The voters will pick a new National Assembly Monday.

Premier Edgar Faure last night condemned the "murderous act" of a French gendarme who shot down an apparently unarmed Algerian prisoner last August.

But his government backed down on earlier charges that a cameraman for an American newsreel company had bribed the gendarme to do the shooting so he could take the pictures.

The premier said the shooting was "contrary to all regulations and all instructions" for coping with rebellious nationalist extremists in Algeria. However, he added that it was deplorable that the incident should have been used for what he called last-minute political exploitation.

Pictures of the shooting were widely publicized for the first time in France Thursday in L'Express, Paris daily supporting ex-premier Pierre Mendes-France's bid for a political comeback in the voting.

MEDES — FRANCE, fighting Faure and the premier's allies, has based his campaign on the 14-month-old nationalist rebellion in Algeria. The former premier says the Algerian strife must be halted by an agreement such as he made with the Tunisians or it may turn into another defeat like Indochina. Publication of the shooting pictures produced the most dramatic development in the election campaign. The Interior Ministry charged Thursday that Georges Chassagne, 34, a Frenchman and Algerian correspondent for U. S.-owned Fox Movietone News, had bribed the unidentified gendarme in order to get the pictures.

Chassagne flew to Paris from Algiers yesterday and denied indignantly what he called "scandalous accusations against my company and myself."

"I never asked for any posing of pictures. I never saw the gendarme before. I have never seen him since, and I certainly never bribed any gendarme," he said.

Finally, Interior Ministry officials acknowledged there was no evidence to back the charge of bribery in the shooting.

31 Men Aboard USS Pickaway Honored; Ship Now In Far East

Thirty-one men of the attack transport USS Pickaway, named in honor of Pickaway County, have been awarded the Navy Good Conduct Medal for three years exemplary service.

The men received their awards from the ship's commanding officer, Capt. B. F. Roeder, USN, during ceremonies aboard the vessel while she was recently in dock at the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong. The men aboard the Pickaway keep in touch with district events through The Herald.

Captain Roeder has already extended a "welcome aboard" to any residents of this area who, while touring, happen to find the Pickaway in one of the west coast ports. The same invitation has also been extended to any of Pickaway County's servicemen or service-women who happen to find themselves based near the ship's port of call. The Pickaway carries the identification APA 222 on her bow.

THE MEN awarded the Good Conduct Medal were:

H. E. Givan, R. R. Herman, F. H. Kestel, D. W. Hodge, C. G. Gibson, J. L. Nunez, S. J. Gold, E. Edwards, R. O. Kronberg, C. R. Blackwelder, T. E. Jones, C. V. Briggs, G. B. Carroll, B. N. Ahern, W. A. Stewart, W. L. Davis, W. C. Stercho, D. G. Barnes, G. Vaughn, B. Martin, T. A. Hamm, F. J. Guzman, D. W. Harrell, J. C. Weaver, D. B. Clifford, J. R. Ulich, H. D. Odle, W. I. Peacock, and S. V. Sims.

Men of the Pickaway are invited to write to The Herald about their experiences aboard the vessel, one of the hardest working units in Uncle Sam's Pacific fleet. Captain Roeder and local public officials have expressed the desire to cement a lasting bond of friendship between the crew of the ship and its adopted "home" district. Men of the ship are from widely scattered sections of the nation.

Commissioned in December 1944, the Pickaway is one of the oldest continuous active duty transports in the Pacific fleet. Since August of this year, she has been operating in the Far East, visiting ports in China, Japan, Okinawa and the Philippines.

He said "no serious effort" was made to prevent violence during a long strike at the plant. He cited Mayor Clyde Welty, the sheriff's department and the chief of police for failure to enforce peaceful picketing orders of the courts. All denied the accusations.

Moor's statements were made public when a copy of a letter he sent Gov. Frank J. Lausche was released. He wrote:

"We thought you would be interested in learning by enclosed copy of the letter to the mayor of Lima what happened to one of your Ohio industries."

Earlier this month, Moor said the 35-year-old firm would be disposed of the plant, which employed 200 persons, was struck by the United Rubber Workers last Sept. 1 in a dispute over job security. Wages were not a major issue.

Moor said he had received a reply from the governor, but refused to make it public.

January Slated To Be Rather Cool

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau says its 30-day outlook for January calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals in the eastern third of the nation.

Above normal temperatures are indicated from the Mississippi westward to the Pacific with greatest departures in the southern Rockies, the bureau said.

Precipitation is expected to be near or above normal in the Southwest and along the West Coast. In the remainder of the country generally subnormal amounts are predicted by the bureau.

420 Expected To Be Killed This Weekend

In the article, Considine said in part:

"Then Herod, perceiving that he was deluded by the Wise Men, was exceedingly angry, and killed all the male children that were in Bethlehem and in all the borders thereof. . . . Matthew 2:13-18.

When it comes to the slaughter of the innocents, Herod was a crude amateur compared to the American motorist. Herod's men went by foot or springless chariot, needed many swings of their two-edged swords, probably had to take some punches from outraged relatives of the victims.

Not our slaughterer! He prowls about behind the protective armor of a heavy steel envelope powered by the equivalent of upward of 150 horses. He doesn't need a second swing with his 20th century version of a Herod sword. He can wipe out an entire family of innocents while speeding at a rate which would cause Herod to faint from fright.

The modern slaughterer goes Herod one better. He generally makes the slaughter complete by killing himself, too.

The grisly death rate of innocents and slaughterers exceeded 600 over the Christmas weekend. Death, whose shroud and cackle now are as much a part of the holiday season as Santa and his stomachy chuckle, asks you a question on the brink of the next scheduled Slaughter of the Innocents.

With the knowing leer of a quiz-master, Death asks:

"Want to try for 700?"

Well, do you? It's the easiest quiz on the air—or on the road. You can get the answer—the grave, disfigurement, lost time and money—by beating a traffic light, taking a long chance to save a short time, taking just one more "for the road," insisting you can drive with a snootful, venturing out on icy roads when you could stay put, driving though inattentive or exhausted, etc.

More Americans were killed for preposterously small reason last weekend than laid down their lives for the United States Navy in the Revolutionary War (342) or the War of 1812 (265) or the Mexican War (1).

Imagine! More people winding up bashed against trees, without cause, than died in the creation of much of our history.

Organist! play "Adeste Fidelis" for those now living who'll never know another Christmas.

Bitter Clash Is Finale To Vote Campaign

French Due To Ballot Monday On Makeup Of New Government

PARIS (AP)—Bitter political battling over charges of atrocities in Algeria brought the French election campaign to a heated close today. The voters will pick a new National Assembly Monday.

Premier Edgar Faure last night condemned the "murderous act" of a French gendarme who shot down an apparently unarmed Algerian prisoner last August.

But his government backed down on earlier charges that a cameraman for an American newsreel company had bribed the gendarme to do the shooting so he could take the pictures.

The premier said the shooting was "contrary to all regulations and all instructions" for coping with rebellious nationalist extremists in Algeria. However, he added that it was deplorable that the incident should have been used for what he called last-minute political exploitation.

Pictures of the shooting were widely publicized for the first time in France Thursday in L'Express, Paris daily supporting ex-premier Pierre Mendes-France's bid for a political comeback in the voting.

Publication of the shooting pictures produced the most dramatic development in the election campaign. The Interior Ministry charged Thursday that Georges Chassagne, 34, a Frenchman and Algerian correspondent for U. S.-owned Fox Movietone News, had bribed the unidentified gendarme in order to get the pictures.

Chassagne flew to Paris from Algiers yesterday and denied indignantly what he called "scandalous accusations against my company and myself."

"I never asked for any posing of pictures. I never saw the gendarme before. I have never seen him since, and I certainly never bribed any gendarme," he said.

Finally, Interior Ministry officials acknowledged there was no evidence to back the charge of bribery in the shooting.

31 Men Aboard USS Pickaway Honored; Ship Now In Far East

Thirty-one men of the attack transport USS Pickaway, named in honor of Pickaway County, have been awarded the Navy Good Conduct Medal for three years exemplary service.

THE MEN received their awards from the ship's commanding officer, Capt. B. F. Roeder, USN, during ceremonies aboard the vessel while she was recently in dock at the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong. The men aboard the Pickaway keep in touch with district events through The Herald.

Captain Roeder has already extended a "welcome aboard" to any residents of this area who, while touring, happen to find the Pickaway in one of the west coast ports. The same invitation has also been extended to any of Pickaway County's servicemen or service-women who happen to find themselves based near the ship's port of call. The Pickaway carries the identification APA 222 on her bow.

Lima Plant's Failure Blamed On Officials

LIMA (AP)—Failure of public officials to perform their duties forced the Gro-Cord Rubber Co. out of business, company President Forest Moor claims.

He said "no serious effort" was made to prevent violence during a long strike at the plant. He cited Mayor Clyde Welty, the sheriff's department and the chief of police for failure to enforce peaceful picketing orders of the courts. All denied the accusations.

Moor's statements were made public when a copy of a letter he sent Gov. Frank J. Lausche was released. He wrote:

"We thought you would be interested in learning by enclosed copy of the letter to the mayor of Lima what happened to one of your Ohio industries."

Earlier this month, Moor said the 35-year-old firm would be disposed of the plant, which employed 200 persons, was struck by the United Rubber Workers last Sept. 1 in a dispute over job security. Wages were not a major issue.

Moor said he had received a reply from the governor, but refused to make it public.

January Slated To Be Rather Cool

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau says its 30-day outlook for January calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals in the eastern third of the nation.

Above normal temperatures are indicated from the Mississippi westward to the Pacific with greatest departures in the southern Rockies, the bureau said.

Precipitation is expected to be near or above normal in the Southwest and along the West Coast. In the remainder of the country generally subnormal amounts are predicted by the bureau.

Amanda Aces Rally To Win Over Walnut

Walnut's Tigers were well on their way to their second victory of the year Friday night but a big rally by Amanda gave the Aces the victory, 51-45.

Playing at Amanda, the Tigers led most of the way and held a nine-point lead in the third quarter with about three minutes to play in the canto.

This lead was shaved to one point by the end of the period and in the fourth quarter, the Aces found the range for 15 more points while holding the Tigers to eight to win the game.

Riegel of Walnut and Amanda's Smith shared scoring honors with 18 points.

In the reserve tilt, Amanda stormed past the Junior Tigers, 51-15.

Score by Qtrs:

	1	2	3	Total
Walnut	12	27	37	45
Amanda	12	20	36	51

Toledo Vet Fighting For War Benefits

TOLEDO (AP)—An Army Veteran who spent 33 months in a North Korean prison camp says he has been denied $2,507 in prisoner of war claims and branded as a Red collaborator.

Joseph Hammond, 29, who holds the Bronze Star Medal for bravery, said yesterday that his application for payment of $2.50 for each day he was held prisoner was turned down by the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission.

"I'm branded as a collaborator with the Reds," the partially disabled veteran said. "By implication they're trying to say I'm guilty of treason."

A government investigation was promised by Congressman Thomas L. Ashley, who said that from what he had been able to learn "there has been flagrant abuse in Mr. Hammond's case of the time-honored right of the accused to face his accuser."

Groups Eye Tippy Drivers

COLUMBUS (AP)—Watchdogs of Ohio roads tonight will begin their "aggressive campaign" against careless holiday drivers. Special targets will be tippy drivers, who bring the New Year's weekend.

Director U. C. Felty of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety said five statewide associations have promised to join the Ohio Highway Patrol in an "aggressive campaign" against careless holiday drivers, especially drunks.

The groups include the Buckeye Retail Liquor Dealers Assn., which joined safety groups in urging: "When it's one for the road, be sure it's coffee!"

Other groups are the Ohio Assn. of Police Chiefs, the Buckeye State Sheriffs Assn., the Ohio Municipal Judges Assn. and the Ohio Assn. of Common Pleas Judges.

Felty said he hoped the Christmas weekend Ohio traffic toll of 40 dead "would have a sobering effect on the minds of motorists and pedestrians alike."

eran Church will rehearse at 7:30 on Thursday.

The Lutheran Catechetical Classes will meet Saturday at 9 a. m.

Catholic Diocese To Offer Prayers For Persecuted

Catholic churches of the Columbus diocese were granted permission this week to set aside New Year's Day as a Day of Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament, an observance to be held in connection with the nationwide Day of Prayer for persecuted peoples.

St. Joseph's Church in Circleville will participate. The diocesan observance was announced this week in a letter to pastors from Monsignor Roland T. Wines, chancellor of the diocese. Monsignor Wines suggested that in the event a Day of Exposition is impossible in some churches, a Holy Hour should be scheduled. He declared:

"The Most Reverend Bishop asks that the devoted laity of the Diocese receive the Sacraments over that weekend and spend periods of vigil and adoration before the Eucharistic Saviour in their parish churches and pray for God's mercy in behalf of His suffering children and offer their sacrifices as an act of reparation for the grave injustices to God which have occasioned the persecution endured by our brothers in Christ."

The day of prayer in behalf of millions of oppressed people behind the Iron Curtain was scheduled by the bishops of the United States at their annual meeting in Washington, D. C. in November. American Catholics, the bishops said in a statement, cannot ever permit the plight of the victims of Red persecution to be forgotten or ignored. All men of good will, they declared, will "surely continue to protest against such stark injustices and to plead before God and before men that it be speedily ended."

The bishops saluted the persecuted people "in affection and in admiration," and declared: "By their wounds may the modern world be healed. By their merits may it deserve to achieve in our time that measure of peace with justice and charity which is the fervent hope of men of good will everywhere."

First EUB Church Set To Observe Holy Communion

New Year's Day at the First Evangelical United Brethren Church will be observed by the administration of Holy Communion. All members and friends of the congregation are invited to attend and participate in the service.

Morning services will convene at 9:30 and will be in charge of the pastor the Rev. O. F. Gibbs. The fidelis chorus, directed by Fred Brown, will sing "Awakening Chorus", by Charles H. Gabriel. Miss BonnaLee Meadows, organist, will play the following numbers: prelude, "A Prayer" by Sticks; offertory, "Morning", by Sticks; and postlude, "Triumphal March", by Sticks.

Sunday school in the children's department will convene in the Service Center at 9:30 a. m. under the direction of Miss Gladys Noggle, director. Sunday school in the youth and adult departments will meet at 10:35 a. m. under the direction of Montford Kirkwood Jr., general superintendent. A special offering will be received for the trustee fund.

Junior church will meet in the Service Center at 10:35 a. m. with Mrs. Howard Conley in charge.

Trinity Lutherans Schedule Service New Year's Eve

A special New Year's Eve service will be held at Trinity Lutheran Church on Saturday at 8 p. m. The entire service will be conducted by the Luther League.

The music will be provided by the youth choir under the direction of Truman Eberly. Miss Lois Ann Wittich will be the organist for the evening.

Julian Smith, James Palm and Ed Walters will read selections of Scripture. June Cassill, Mary Lou Brown, Diane Brown, Bill Purcell, Larry Mallett and Brent Pell will be ushers for the evening. Ray Johnson, the student pastor, will deliver the evening message, "Watch and Wait", from Psalm 90:12.

Following the service, a party will be given for the youth in the Parish Hall. At midnight, a short prayer service will be held to "see in the New Year".

Church Survival Said Miracle In Face Of Ineptness

ATHENS, Pa.—A Lutheran theologian from Rockford, Ill., says "one of history's major miracles has been the survival of the church because of the ineptness of those within the church."

Communion Table Will Be Featured At Calvary EUB

The Sacrament of Holy Communion will be celebrated Sunday morning at 9 in the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church worship service.

The minister of the church, the Rev. James B. Recob, will preside at the Communion table. He will be assisted at the table by a layman, Dale De Long.

All members of Calvary Church are being urged to present themselves in the church for the Sacrament on the first day of the New Year.

Sunday will also mark the beginning of a church attendance movement in Calvary Church which will last until Easter Sunday, April 1. The theme of the movement is: "The Answer Is God: Worship Him at Church Every Week, Worship Him at Home Every Day."

Wapak Cleric Dies

WAPAKONETA, Pa.—Services will be held Monday for the Rev. Richard J. Loew, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church here and a trustee of Heidelberg College in Tiffin. Rev. Mr. Loew, 70, died last night.

Mission the church has continued "in spite of the stupidity and perversity of its members."

Addressing 3,500 delegates on the Ohio University campus, Hjelm said three affirmations are needed in the student Christian movements of the world. These are:

1. Knowing the church. 2. Learning the relation of truth to love. 3. Willingness to accept the risk of prayer.

District Churches Join Worldwide Attendance Drive

Numerous churches in Circleville and the surrounding county are joining in the 1956 World Wide Church Attendance Movement which begins this Sunday, New Year's Day.

Theme of the movement, sponsored locally by the Pickaway County Ministerial Association, is: "THE ANSWER IS GOD: Worship Him at Church Every Week, Worship Him at Home Every Day."

Churches of this area are uniting with thousands of churches of all faiths across America in this intensive, interdenominational movement covering the 14 Sundays from January 1 through April 1 (Easter).

Members of all local churches are being urged to participate in the World Wide Church Attendance Movement. Each member is being urged to renew his loyalty to his own church and to pledge his attendance during this special emphasis.

The churches participating in this program are working hard to make worship services helpful and inspiring, "to the end that God may truly be the answer to the problems of our homes, our community, and our world."

A person is taller when lying down than when standing up.

'Apostles Creed' Continued On At Methodist Church

The minister of First Methodist Church, the Rev. Charles D. Reed, will continue his series of sermons on the "Apostles' Creed" Sunday morning in the 10:45 worship service. (There will be no early service on New Year's Sunday.)

The portion of the Creed referred to will be, "Suffered Under Pontius Pilate, Christ still suffers under Pontius Pilate, but a Pontius Pilate in modern guise."

The Scripture lesson, used for a background to the sermon, will be

Romans, the eighth chapter, the first 18 verses.

The senior choir, under the direction of Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, will sing "Holy Lord God", by Cain.

The organist, Mrs. James Hodges, will use for her prelude, "Pastorale", by Guilman; for her offertory, "Berceuse", by Harris; and for her postlude, "Postlude", by Armstrong.

Hymns for the service will include: "Love Divine, All Loves Excelling", by Charles Wesley, and "O God, Our Help in Ages Past", by Isaac Watts.

Young people home from college and from service in the armed forces will be recognized. The following young people will act as

Presbyterians Set Service Schedule

The Sacrament of Our Lord's Supper will be celebrated during the New Year's worship service at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning at 10:30.

The Rev. Donald Mitchell will present a Communion meditation on the theme, "The Master's Cup". The choir will sing the anthem, "For God So Loved The World", from "The Holy City", by Gaul.

Ushers in the service: head usher, Robert Wolford, assisted by: Margie Magill, Diane Mason, Beverly Southward, Tom Elsea, Gary Mason and Charles Waple.

THE SANDS OF TIME

Remember that old song which says, "the sands of time are sinking fast"? Whether we like the idea or not, it is most certainly true, and there is nothing we can do about it.

Nothing? That depends on what we mean. Assuredly we can do nothing to stop the sands of time from running through the hour glass of life, but we can do much to make those hours worthwhile, and the Church stands ever ready to help us.

The Church is made up of people like us, working together to spread the message of the gospel. The Church brings comfort to those who sorrow, gives strength to those who are weak. The Church needs us to help carry on its work. When we are busy in the Church helping others, we do not worry over the ceaseless flow of the sands of time.

Are you doing your part in the Church? Do you need its help? Its doors are open, its welcome unchanging. "The sands of time are sinking fast"—how are you spending the days and hours?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

"By their wounds may the modern world be healed. By their merits may it deserve to achieve in our time that measure of peace with justice and charity which is the fervent hope of men of good will everywhere."

New Year's Day at the First Evangelical United Brethren Church will be observed by the administration of Holy Communion. All members and friends of the congregation are invited to attend and participate in the service.

Morning services will convene at 9:30 and will be in charge of the pastor the Rev. O. F. Gibbs. The fidelis chorus, directed by Fred Brown, will sing "Awakening Chorus", by Charles H. Gabriel. Miss BonnaLee Meadows, organist, will play the following numbers: prelude, "A Prayer" by Stickles; offertory, "Morning" by Stickles; and postlude, "Triumphal March", by Stickles.

Sunday school in the children's department will convene in the Service Center at 9:30 a. m. under the direction of Miss Gladys Nogle, director. Sunday school in the youth and adult departments will meet at 10:35 a. m. under the direction of Montford Kirkwood Jr., general superintendent. A special offering will be received for the trustee fund.

Junior church will meet in the Service Center at 10:35 a. m. with Mrs. Howard Conley in charge.

Trinity Lutherans Schedule Service New Year's Eve

A special New Year's Eve service will be held at Trinity Lutheran Church on Saturday at 8 p. m. The entire service will be conducted by the Luther League.

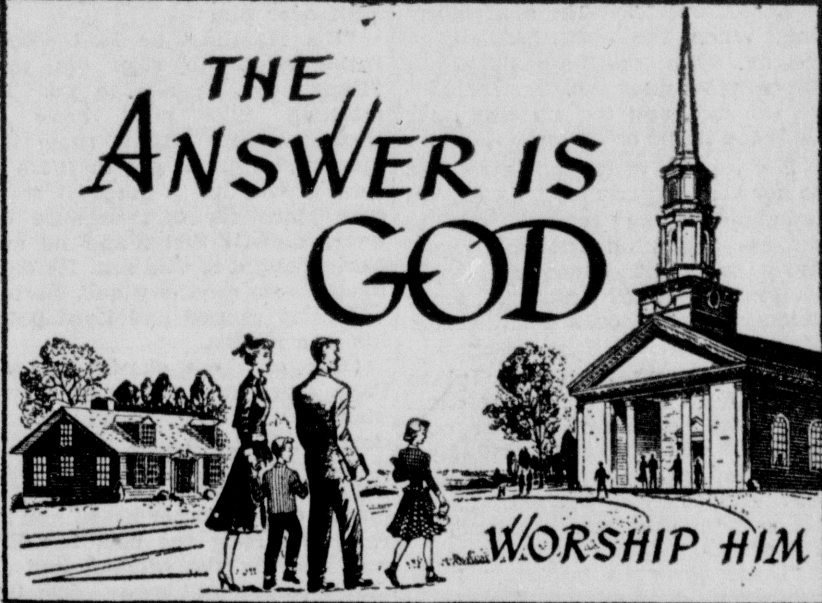

The music will be provided by the youth choir under the direction of Truman Eberly. Miss Lois Ann Wittich will be the organist for the evening.

Julian Smith, James Palm and Ed Walters will read selections of Scripture. June Cassill, Mary Lou Brown, Diane Brown, Bill Purcell, Larry Mallett and Brent Pell will be ushers for the evening. Ray Johnson, the student pastor, will deliver the evening message, "Watch and Wait", from Psalm 90:12.

Church Survival Said Miracle In Face Of Ineptness

ATHENS (AP)—A Lutheran theologian from Rockford, Ill., says "one of history's major miracles has been the survival of the church because of the ineptness of those within the church."

Norman A. Hjelm told the 17th quadrennial Student Ecumenical Conference on the Christian World

Communion Table Will Be Featured At Calvary EUB

The Sacrament of Holy Communion will be celebrated Sunday morning at 9 in the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church worship service.

The minister of the church, the Rev. James B. Recob, will preside at the Communion table. He will be assisted at the table by a layman, Dale De Long.

All members of Calvary Church are being urged to present themselves in the church for the Sacrament on the first day of the New Year.

Sunday will also mark the beginning of a church attendance movement in Calvary Church which will last until Easter Sunday, April 1. The theme of the movement is: "The Answer Is God: Worship Him at Church Every Week, Worship Him at Home Every Day."

Wapak Cleric Dies

WAPAKONETA (AP)—Services will be held Monday for the Rev. Richard J. Loew, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church here and a trustee of Heidelberg College in Tiffin. Rev. Mr. Loew, 70, died last night.

Mission the church has continued "in spite of the stupidity and perversity of its members."

Addressing 3,500 delegates on the Ohio University campus, Hjelm said three affirmations are needed in the student Christian movements of the world. These are:

1. Knowing the church. 2. Learning the relation of truth to love. 3. Willingness to accept the risk of prayer.

District Churches Join Worldwide Attendance Drive

Numerous churches in Circleville and the surrounding county are joining in the 1956 World Wide Church Attendance Movement which begins this Sunday, New Year's Day.

Theme of the movement, sponsored locally by the Pickaway County Ministerial Association, is: "THE ANSWER IS GOD: Worship Him at Church Every Week, Worship Him at Home Every Day."

Churches of this area are uniting with thousands of churches of all faiths across America in this intensive, interdenominational movement covering the 14 Sundays from January 1 through April 1 (Easter).

Members of all local churches are being urged to participate in the World Wide Church Attendance Movement. Each member is being urged to renew his loyalty to his own church and to pledge his attendance during this special emphasis.

The churches participating in this program are working hard to make worship services helpful and inspiring, "to the end that God may truly be the answer to the problems of our homes, our community, and our world."

A person is taller when lying down than when standing up.

'Apostles Creed' Continued On At Methodist Church

The minister of First Methodist Church, the Rev. Charles D. Reed, will continue his series of sermons on the "Apostles' Creed" Sunday morning in the 10:45 worship service. (There will be no early service on New Year's Sunday.)

The portion of the Creed referred to will be, "Suffered under Pontius Pilate"; Christ still suffers under Pontius Pilate, but a Pontius Pilate in modern guise.

The Scripture lesson, used for a background to the sermon, will be

Romans, the eighth chapter, the first 18 verses.

The senior choir, under the direction of Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, will sing "Holy Lord God", by Cain.

The organist, Mrs. James Hodges, will use for her prelude, "Pastorale", by Guilman; for her offertory, "Berceuse", by Harris; and for her postlude, "Postludium", by Armstrong.

Hymns for the service will include: "Love Divine, All Loves Excelling", by Charles Wesley, and "O God, Our Help in Ages Past", by Isaac Watts.

Young people home from college and from service in the armed forces will be recognized. The following young people will act as

Presbyterians Set Service Schedule

The Sacrament of Our Lord's Supper will be celebrated during the New Year's worship service at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning at 10:30.

The Rev. Donald Mitchell will present a Communion meditation on the theme, "The Master's Cup". The choir will sing the anthem, "For God So Loved The World", from "The Holy City", by Gaul.

Ushers in the service: head usher, Robert Wolford, assisted by: Margie Magill, Diane Mason, Beverly Southward, Tom Elsea, Gary Mason and Charles Waple.

THE SANDS OF TIME

Remember that old song which says, "the sands of time are sinking fast"? Whether we like the idea or not, it is most certainly true, and there is nothing we can do about it.

Nothing? That depends on what we mean. Assuredly we can do nothing to stop the sands of time from running through the hour glass of life, but we can do much to make those hours worthwhile, and the Church stands ever ready to help us.

The Church is made up of people like us, working together to spread the message of the gospel. The Church brings comfort to those who sorrow, gives strength to those who are weak. The Church needs us to help carry on its work. When we are busy in the Church helping others, we do not worry over the ceaseless flow of the sands of time.

Are you doing your part in the Church? Do you need its help? Its doors are open, its welcome unchanging. "The sands of time are sinking fast"—how are you spending the days and hours?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

HAPPY IN RETIREMENT?

EVERY YEAR a million Americans reach the age of 65 and are eligible for retirement under social security. A large percentage of that number will take advantage of the opportunity and bid goodbye to toil.

Some will be compelled to comply because of rules set up by employing concerns. Others will do so voluntarily in anticipation of years of rest and contentment. But contentment in retirement seems elusive.

Congress has taken this into consideration and has changed the law to make it possible for retired persons to work part time, presumably to add to earnings where retirement pay is not found to be too attractive. But the innovation does more than that. It gives the pensioner a sense of importance and makes him feel that he is still a part of the daily routine.

Social security retirement has been in operation long enough to permit extensive surveys of its possibilities and impacts. Some of these are disturbing. It has been learned that retired persons die earlier than those still employed. Many hold to the theory that it is better to wear out than rust out. But there is a possibility that those who keep on working live longer because those in ill health are the first to retire.

Retirement with security has always been a human dream. But of course anticipation may be more enjoyable than realization.

THE PAPER DELUGE

JOKES ABOUT government red tape and record keeping are legion. But for officials these days the problem of storing records they must keep by law has passed the stage of humor.

At Topeka, Kan., the state government has started the long task of microfilming the state's record of its warrants and vouchers and other monetary transactions. It is expected to take a long time to film all of the stacks of records, some of which date back to 1869.

The state legislature has authorized the destruction of original records after three years if they have been microfilmed. There is a world of difference in the amount of storage space needed for a thin roll of film on which 3,000 forms fit into a 100 foot length as against the room needed for the originals. The records will be easier to find, too.

This is a problem that will face all units of government as the nation wades deeper and deeper into the swamp of duplicates and triplicates and "must be kept" records. Since government is a pack-rat that hesitates to throw anything away, microfilming seems the only answer if statehouses and courthouses are not to be turned into vast archives and paper vaults.

VANISHING HORSE

ALTHOUGH recent sale of a horse for one and a quarter million dollars may not be a true reflection of the scarcity of horseflesh, the number of horses and mules on U. S. farms continues to decrease steadily.

Of 5 million farms in the country, an estimated 1.8 million now are operated without horses. The number of tractors on farms increased by a million in the last five years. The number of horses and mules decreased by 3.5 million during the same period.

Perhaps the day is not far off when some public-spirited citizen will start an organization to prevent the extermination of horses, or even mules. Cities today are all but devoid of horses, and more than one-third of all farms have followed the trend in urban centers.

Certainly at this rate it will not be long until there are few equine specimens left.

JOBLESS DRAINS

IN AN ANNUAL report Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell reveals that last year 6,600,000 claimants were paid $2,000,000,000 in unemployment insurance. Average weekly check was $25. This has reduced the total unemployment insurance reserve of the states from $8,912,000,000 to $8,250,000,000.

Approximately 4,000,000 employees have been added to unemployment insurance coverage in the last year, there is a widespread movement for higher weekly bene-

These Days

It all started on Friday when we took Joe to board him out in kennels in the country over the holidays. We did not dare bring a Christmas tree into the house with Joe at home because it was improbable that there would be no accident. Joe is wholly unpredictable, and a tree is very tempting.

Naturally, it was a bit saddening to think of Christmas without Joe's morning bark and lick, but he likes snow, being a Keeshond, and in the kennels in Nyack he will have plenty of running and wrestling in the snow.

There were none of the usual arguments about how to trim the tree. The youngsters took over and did it fast, but it looked the same as it always did. This year, we had promised ourselves the luxury of driving up to the farm to chop down a spruce but Christmas came too soon and the snow too early, so we bought a tree which never can be like a chopped-down tree from one's own woods.

And so to bed on Friday night, listening to Christmas carols well into the night as put together by Fleetwood on "Music Through the Night," which continues to be a good way to fall asleep peacefully.

On Saturday we went to the Metropolitan Opera House and witnessed a glorious "Lohengrin" which seemed to be just right for Christmas. The mystery of "Lohengrin" fitted the mood of mystery and mysticism. I went to "Lohengrin" with my daughter who keeps me very young because she at 15 is such a mature lady. Maybe some day she will grow young too, as balanced human beings always do as the years come to them.

Then we dined en famille and gathered our presents but never opened a one of them and we talked of this and that and of our child who is away from home in distant California and of Joe who is also away in the kennels and of Brownie who lies on a hill on the farm and whose grave we shall cover with sweet alyssum, and for a while we listened solemnly to Bach's "Christmas Cantata" which came over a music station, WQXR. And so to bed.

Early Christmas morning we opened our presents which had taken so long to wrap. Over WNYC came Handel's "The Messiah" which filled the house with its many glories.

Ours is a peculiar household. I am, of course, a Jew. My wife is an Episcopalian; the son who is in California is a Roman Catholic; the daughter goes to a Dutch Reformed Church; the second son has not yet declared himself. We all manage to get along but I fear that the only one who went to church was the young man in California. We do not find the variety of religious experience at all disconcerting.

As a matter of fact, we are Republicans and Democrats, pro this and that, and we argue and debate from our various standpoints. We even have diverse views on music and while I could not imagine myself spending a night at Jimmy Ryan's listening to Jazz, other members of the household do just that, preferring beer to wine which is like favoring herring over caviar.

It is all a matter of taste and although Father's taste is never referred to as stuffy or old-fashioned, it is regarded as gaudy which is a form of indigestion.

Nevertheless, I was pleased to find one of the younger ones voluntarily reading "Mr. Midshipman Easy," which was as good a novel in 1836, when it was published, as it is today. And what also pleased me was that our young lady, who went with me to see the opening of "The Righteous Are Bold," one of the truly important plays here this year, liked the play and understood its meaning which is more than can be said for some of the adults who wondered what such grand acting was all about.

So many of our theatergoers have a "Guys and Dolls" complex that they have lost the taste for theater, just as charcoal-steak eaters lose the flavor of an excellent stew.

And so we sat about the tree on Christmas night—family and dear friends, not so much celebrating, although both food and drink were plentiful, thank God for His mercies, but just to feel the warmth of being together.

Fits of longer duration, and the drain on the fund could become serious.

Heaviest drain is in the so-called "chronic unemployment areas." The department is delving into the feasibility of retraining the jobless in such areas and paying their expenses in moving to communities where there are more opportunities.

The department is also trying to lessen the cost of joblessness through vocational rehabilitation to help the handicapped obtain gainful employment. Through state cooperation it has aided nearly 120,000 such persons in two years.

DIET AND HEALTH

Eat Carrot Sticks Instead Of Canapes

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

CELEBRATE the New Year any way you wish, but don't forget that bulging waistline.

Even those of you who have been doing something about any overweight problem you might have, probably have been neglecting your diet during the holidays. That is natural enough, but you should try to remember a few calorie hints during the next year.

One of them you can put into practice tonight and still enjoy yourself.

Avoid Canapes

Instead of reaching for a canape at that party, you may attend, take a carrot stick or radish rose instead. And choose a beverage that will last you a long time; one you can linger over. This will keep your party calorie intake at a fairly low level.

Don't explain your actions to the other revelers. Talking about your diet is merely a form of self-pity. And when you begin feeling sorry for yourself, your diet goes out the window.

You can follow this party snack idea all through the year with good results. Try fresh fruits and vegetables like radishes, celery, lettuce and cucumbers for your between-meal nibbling. Instead of cake and cookies. These usually satisfy your urge to nibble without adding many calories.

As far as your regular meals are concerned, especially those hasty lunches so many of you take, just remember that a chocolate bar and a hamburger are equal only in calories, not in nourishment. So, don't grab a bar of candy and expect to get the nutritional value of a sandwich or regular meal unless you take a glass of milk with whatever else you eat.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

T. S.: Will milk and sugar cause mucus to form in the sinus and increase the symptoms of sinus disease?

Answer: There is no evidence that milk or sugar will adversely affect sinus disease.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

LORA overslept the next morning. When she opened her eyes, bright April sunshine burnished the window panes, birds proclaimed the day, and the air was alive with the tingle of spring.

She yawned widely and stretched to her very finger tips. Last night's unhappy ending reached out to possess her mind but she would have none of it. Today she would laugh at Wade if he gloomed, tease Jenny lovingly, coax a smile from Mother Tyler.

Unfortunately, her brave plans began to go awry almost at once. She came downstairs to find Mrs. Tyler and Jenny already at breakfast. The boy was not eating, and his grandmother was obviously in a towering dudgeon.

"I am sorry to be late," Lora apologized, slipping into her place. "Has Wade overslept too?"

Jenny threw her a tragic look and began to fiddle with his porridge spoon.

"Eat!" said his grandmother, and Jenny forced the spoon to quivering lips.

"Has something happened?" Lora asked. "Where is Wade?"

"That," said Mrs. Tyler coldly. "Is what I should like to know. My son has never turned against me with thoughts he would not share until you came into this house, Lora. Perhaps you had better tell me where it is that he goes in the evening, and why he is so often out of the house all day long."

"He doesn't tell me, either," Lora said mildly. "I believe he is working on some effort that has to do with the war. Why don't you ask him yourself?"

"I have no wish to try," said the old lady, inconsistently. "At least he has come to his senses about one thing this morning."

Jenny's mouth trembled uncontrollably. He set down his spoon and ran out of the room and up the stairs.

Mrs. Tyler began an indignant complaint, but Lora did not stay to listen. She set her napkin down with a hasty "Excuse me," and hurried after Jenny.

Sure enough, he was being sick in his slop pail. She held his head gently, supported his small convulsed body until he was quiet with whatever else you eat.

Then she helped him to bed.

I've got. The Union doesn't sell families, like the South does with slaves. Lorie, you will help me?"

"Of course I'll help you," she whispered, her lips close to his ear. "You've got me, you know. And you've got your papa. All open and Hamlin got in there before I was up. I guess it was a new place for him because he's never allowed there, and he must have thought it was fun. He didn't mean to do anything bad, Lorie."

Jenny gulped and Lora patted his arm gently.

"One of those shawls you and Papa gave Grandmother for Christmas was on a chair and Hamlin dragged it down and played with it all over the room. He chewed a hole in it and tore it in some other places. Grandmother heard him and rang and rang the bell, but Ellie was busy in the kitchen and she didn't come right away. And then I heard the ringing and the barking and I came running down, right after Papa."

He choked back a sob and went on. "Grandmother was furious when she saw her blue shawl and she said Hamlin would have to go. I tried to explain that he didn't know any better because he is a very young dog. But—but Papa wouldn't listen. He said this was enough and Grandmother was right. He—he called Peter in and told him to take Ham out and get rid of him—to give him away at once."

Lora held the small hand tightly. "And then what happened?"

He sat up in bed to tell her despairingly. "I—fought Peter when he came in. And when Papa held me, I—I kicked him and I bit him on the hand. But he didn't do anything to me. He just looked at me in the most awful way and said I'd done more damage in my life than I'd ever realize. Then he told Grandmother he was going out and he didn't even stay for breakfast. Lorie—what did he mean? Did he mean my mother and—the turtles?"

"No, darling," she said quickly. "Of course he didn't mean that."

"I'd rather have him thrash me than look at me the way he did."

She held him close, and for once he did not rebel at the embrace, but sobbed with his face against her neck, words still spilling out. "Don't let them take Hamlin! He's my family, Lorie. He's all I've got."

There was a gleam in the deep-set eyes as the old woman regarded him. "Have you seen what that dog has done?" She reached for the ragged shawl from the table next to her.

"Yes, I know," Lora said. "I'm very sorry. But I think Jenny is being torn much more seriously than your shawl, and I think he is more important."

"Fortunately my son does not place my feelings so low on the scale of his consideration," Mrs. Tyler broke in. "He has ordered Peter to get rid of the dog. Something which should have been done long ago. What I can't understand is how he can be visiting Morgan's house these days, as Ellie tells me he is. He knows how dangerous and destructive she can be."

YOUR FUTURE

If you check tendencies to extravagance, your year should be one of average success. A child born today is likely to be bold and ambitious.

For Sunday, Jan. 1, 1956, New Year's Day, your fortunes should be excellent. Today's child may be very ambitious and fortunate.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Happy birthday today to Gen. George C. Marshall, former secretary of state and Nobel prize winner for peace; Stanley Reed, associate justice of the United States Supreme Court; Arthur N. Banto, scientist, and Tommy Byrne and Ted Gray of baseball fame.

On Sunday, Jan. 1, New Year's day, greetings go to Edwin Franko Goldman, bandmaster and composer; Alexander Smallens, musical director; Dana Andrews, film star, and Earl Torgerson and Carl Schwegel of baseball fame.

HAPPY IN RETIREMENT?

EVERY YEAR a million Americans reach the age of 65 and are eligible for retirement under social security. A large percentage of that number will take advantage of the opportunity and bid goodbye to toil.

Some will be compelled to comply because of rules set up by employing concerns. Others will do so voluntarily in anticipation of years of rest and contentment. But contentment in retirement seems elusive.

Congress has taken this into consideration and has changed the law to make it possible for retired persons to work part time, presumably to add to earnings where retirement pay is not found to be too attractive. But the innovation does more than that. It gives the pensioner a sense of importance and makes him feel that he is still a part of the daily routine.

Social security retirement has been in operation long enough to permit extensive surveys of its possibilities and impacts. Some of these are disturbing. It has been learned that retired persons die earlier than those still employed. Many hold to the theory that it is better to wear out than rust out. But there is a possibility that those who keep on working live longer because those in ill health are the first to retire.

Retirement with security has always been a human dream. But of course anticipation may be more enjoyable than realization.

THE PAPER DELUGE

JOKES ABOUT government red tape and record keeping are legion. But for officials these days the problem of storing records they must keep by law has passed the stage of humor.

At Topeka, Kan., the state government has started the long task of microfilming the state's record of its warrants and vouchers and other monetary transactions. It is expected to take a long time to film all of the stacks of records, some of which date back to 1869.

The state legislature has authorized the destruction of original records after three years if they have been microfilmed. There is a world of difference in the amount of storage space needed for a thin roll of film on which 3,000 forms fit into a 100 foot length as against the room needed for the originals. The records will be easier to find, too.

This is a problem that will face all units of government as the nation wades deeper and deeper into the swamp of duplicates and triplicates and "must be kept" records. Since government is a pack-rat that hesitates to throw anything away, microfilming seems the only answer if statehouses and courthouses are not to be turned into vast archives and paper vaults.

VANISHING HORSE

ALTHOUGH recent sale of a horse for one and a quarter million dollars may not be a true reflection of the scarcity of horseflesh, the number of horses and mules on U. S. farms continues to decrease steadily.

Of 5 million farms in the country, an estimated 1.8 million now are operated without horses. The number of tractors on farms increased by a million in the last five years. The number of horses and mules decreased by 3.5 million during the same period.

Perhaps the day is not far off when some public-spirited citizen will start an organization to prevent the extermination of horses, or even mules. Cities today are all but devoid of horses, and more than one-third of all farms have followed the trend in urban centers.

Certainly at this rate it will not be long until there are few equine specimens left.

JOBLESS DRAINS

IN AN ANNUAL report Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell reveals that last year 6,600,000 claimants were paid $2,000,000,000 in unemployment insurance. Average weekly check was $25. This has reduced the total unemployment insurance reserve of the states from $8,912,000,000 to $8,250,000,000.

Approximately 4,000,000 employees have been added to unemployment insurance coverage in the last year, there is a widespread movement for higher weekly bene-

These Days

It all started on Friday when we took Joe to board him out in kennels in the country over the holidays. We did not dare bring a Christmas tree into the house with Joe at home because it was improbable that there would be no accident. Joe is wholly unpredictable, and a tree is very tempting.

Naturally, it was a bit saddening to think of Christmas without Joe's morning bark and lick, but he likes snow, being a Keeshond, and in the kennels in Nyack he will have plenty of running and wrestling in the snow.

There were none of the usual arguments about how to trim the tree. The youngsters took over and did it fast, but it looked the same as it always did. This year, we had promised ourselves the luxury of driving up to the farm to chop down a spruce but Christmas came too soon and the snow too early, so we bought a tree which never can be like a chopped-down tree from one's own woods.

And so to bed on Friday night, listening to Christmas carols well into the night as put together by Fleetwood on "Music Through the Night," which continues to be a good way to fall asleep peacefully.

On Saturday we went to the Metropolitan Opera House and witnessed a glorious "Lohengrin" which seemed to be just right for Christmas. The mystery of "Lohengrin" fitted the mood of mystery and mysticism. I went to "Lohengrin" with my daughter who keeps me very young because she at 15 is such a mature lady. Maybe some day she will grow young too, as balanced human beings always do as the years come to them.

Then we dined in famille and gathered our presents but never opened a one of them and we talked of this and that and of our child who is away from home in distant California and of Joe who is also away in the kennels and of Brownie who lies on a hill on the farm and whose grave we shall cover with sweet alyssum, and for a while we listened solemnly to Bach's "Christmas Cantata" which came over a music station, WQXR. And so to bed.

Early Christmas morning we opened our presents which had taken so long to wrap. Over WNYC came Handel's "The Messiah" which filled the house with its many glories.

Ours is a peculiar household. I am, of course, a Jew. My wife is an Episcopalian; the son who is in California is a Roman Catholic; the daughter goes to a Dutch Reformed Church; the second son has not yet declared himself. We all manage to get along but I fear that the only one who went to church was the young man in California. We do not find the variety of religious experience at all disconcerting.

As a matter of fact, we are Republicans and Democrats, pro this and that, and we argue and debate from our various standpoints. We even have diverse views on music and while I could not imagine myself spending a night at Jimmy Ryan's listening to Jazz, other members of the household do just that, preferring beer to wine which is like favoring herring over caviar.

It is all a matter of taste and although Father's taste is never referred to as stuffy or old-fashioned, it is regarded as gaudy which is a form of indignation.

Nevertheless, I was pleased to find one of the younger ones voluntarily reading "Mr. Midshipman Easy," which was as good a novel in 1836, when it was published, as it is today. And what also pleased me was that our young lady, who went with me to see the opening of "The Righteous Are Bold," one of the truly important plays here this year, liked the play and understood its meaning which is more than can be said for some of the adults who wondered what such grand acting was all about.

So many of our theatergoers have a "Guys and Dolls" complex that they have lost the taste for theater, just as charcoal-steak eaters lose the flavor of an excellent stew.

And so we sat about the tree on Christmas night—family and dear friends, not so much celebrating, although both food and drink were plentiful, thank God for His mercies, but just to feel the warmth of being together.

fits of longer duration, and the drain on the fund could become serious.

Heaviest drain is in the so-called "chronic unemployment areas." The department is delving into the feasibility of retraining the jobless in such areas and paying their expenses in moving to communities where there are more opportunities.

The department is also trying to lessen the cost of joblessness through vocational rehabilitation to help the handicapped obtain gainful employment. Through state cooperation it has aided nearly 120,000 such persons in two years.

DIET AND HEALTH

Eat Carrot Sticks Instead Of Canapes

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

CELEBRATE the New Year any way you wish, but don't forget that bulging waistline.

Even those of you who have been doing something about your overweight problem you might have, probably have been neglecting your diet during the holidays. That is natural enough, but you should try to remember a few calorie hints during the next year.

One of them you can put into practice tonight and still enjoy yourself.

Avoid Canapes

Instead of reaching for a canape at that party, you may attend, take a carrot stick or radish rose instead. And choose a beverage that will last you a long time; one you can linger over. This will keep your party calorie intake at a fairly low level.

Don't explain your actions to the other revelers. Talking about your diet is merely a form of self-pity. And when you begin feeling sorry for yourself, your diet goes out the window.

You can follow this party snack idea all through the year with good results. Try fresh fruits and vegetables like radishes, celery, lettuce and cucumbers for your between-meal nibbling. Instead of cake and cookies. These usually satisfy your urge to nibble without adding many calories.

As far as your regular meals are concerned, especially those hasty lunches so many of you take, just remember that a chocolate bar and a hamburger are equal only in calories, not in nourishment. So, don't grab a bar of candy and expect to get the nutritional value of a sandwich or regular meal unless you take a glass of milk with whatever else you eat.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

T. S.: Will milk and sugar cause mucus to form in the sinus and increase the symptoms of sinus disease?

Answer: There is no evidence that milk or sugar will adversely affect sinus disease.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Thomas McManes, Airman Apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest G. McManes of Circleville Route 1, is a member of Patrol Squadron 931 which is undergoing intensive transitional training.

Circleville recorded its coldest temperature of the year when the mercury nose-dived to eight below zero.

Circleville firemen battled more than an hour in zero temperatures late Tuesday to control a blaze in a downtown garage.

TEN YEARS AGO

A grand total of $449,491.75 was appropriated by the Pickaway Board of County Commissioners in their annual appropriation passed at the meeting Wednesday in the commissioner's office.

Fire rationing has ended but a checkup Thursday revealed that tires were few and far between at Circleville dealers.

The recent holidays were the "merriest" ever for children at the Pickaway County Home according to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Porter, who are in charge of the Home.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

A total of 106 couples attended the New Year's dance at the Elks

Club Hall and after the dance, about 50 members of the Camillos Club and their guests continued the New Year's Eve celebration at the Country Club.

Clyde Leist, Washington Township, who has been a truck driver for the Pickaway Cream Cooperative Association for the past six years, has been appointed tester and station manager to succeed Charles H. Radcliff, sheriff-elect.

The City Board of Health, at a meeting Friday voted down the proposal of the Chamber of Commerce to consolidate with the county health board under one health superintendent.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

LORA overslept the next morning. When she opened her eyes, bright April sunshine burnished the window panes, birds proclaimed the day, and the air was alive with the tinkle of spring.

She yawned widely and stretched to her very finger tips. Last night's unhappy ending reached out to possess her mind but she would have none of it. Today she would laugh at Wade if he gloomed, tease Jenny lovingly, coax a smile from Mother Tyler.

Unfortunately, her brave plans began to go awry almost at once. She came downstairs in her new gown of dove gray, to find Mrs. Tyler and Jenny already at breakfast. The boy was not eating, and his grandmother was obviously in a towering dudgeon.

"I am sorry to be late," Lora apologized, slipping into her place. "Ease Wade overslept too?"

Jenny threw her a tragic look and began to fiddle with his porridge spoon.

"Eat," said his grandmother, and Jenny forced the spoon to quivering lips.

"Has something happened?" Lora asked. "Where is Wade?"

"That," said Mrs. Tyler coldly, "is what I should like to know. My son has never turned against me with thoughts he would not share until you came into this house. Lora, perhaps you had better tell me where it is that he goes in the evening, and why he is so often out of the house all day long."

"He doesn't tell me, either," Lora said mildly. "I believe he is working on some effort that has to do with the war. Why don't you ask him yourself?"

"I have no wish to try," said the old lady, inconsistently. "At least he has come to his senses about one thing this morning."

Jenny's mouth trembled unconsciously. He set down his spoon and ran out of the room and up the stairs.

Mrs. Tyler began an indignant complaint, but Lora did not stay to listen. She set her napkin down with a hasty "Excuse me," and hurried after Jenny.

Sure enough, he was being sick in his slop pail. She held his head gently, supported his small convulsed body until he was quiet again. Then she helped him to bed.

He sat up in bed to tell her despairingly, "I—fought Peter when he came in. And when Papa held me, I—I kicked him and I bit him on the hand. But he didn't do anything to me. He just looked at me in the most awful way and said I'd done more damage in my life than I'd ever realize. Then he told Grandmother he was going out and he didn't even stay for breakfast. Lorie—what did he mean? Did he mean, my mother and—the turtles?"

"No, darling," she said quickly. "Of course he didn't mean that."

"I'd rather have him thrash me than look at me the way he did."

She held him close, and for once he did not rebel at the embrace, but sobbed with his face against her neck, words still spilling out.

"Don't let them take Hamlin! He's my family, Lorie. He's all I've got."

"I've got. The Union doesn't sell families, like the South does with slaves. Lorie, you will help me?"

"Of course I'll help you," she whispered, her lips close to his ear. "You've got me, you know. And you've got your papa. All mothers and fathers get cross with their children sometimes, and sometimes the children get across at them, too."

"It's not like that!" cried Jenny knowingly. "He hates me. I know he does. And I hate him too!"

She could feel anger tightening in him, pulling him taut. Gently she pushed him back upon his pillow.

"You can't help me if you keep this up. And I'll need your help if we're to save Hamlin."

He quieted a little and stared at her dully.

"First I'll have to talk to Peter. But I can't do anything unless you stop crying and try to get a nap. Never mind school today. You just rest now. And this afternoon we'll talk about what can be done. Make plans. We'll work things out somehow, Jenny. You know I'll stand by you."

It was a relief to find that Mother Tyler had finished and had wheeled back to her sitting-room. When she had eaten, Lora went in briefly to let her know that Jenny would stay in bed this morning, and that she was going to take some fruit to Adam Hume, who was down with the fever again.

There was a gleam in the deepest eyes as the old woman regarded her. "Have you seen what that dog has done?" She reached for the ragged shawl from the table next to her.

"Yes, I know," Lora said. "I'm very sorry. But I think Jenny is being torn much more seriously than your shawl, and I think he is more important."

"Fortunately my son does not place my feelings so low on the scale of his consideration," Mrs. Tyler broke in. "He has ordered Peter to get rid of the dog. Something which should have been done long ago. What I can't understand is how he can be visiting Morgan's house these days, as Elsie tells me he is. He knows how dangerous and destructive she can be."

Decorations Awards Given By Monrovia Garden Club

Five Presentations Made In Mt. Sterling

Christmas decorations were judged in the Mt. Sterling community recently and awards were presented to five families by the Monrovia Garden Club.

Mrs. L. D. Howe of Chillicothe judged the decorations. She was accompanied by her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Heirman of Indiana.

First place for over-all decoration was won by Mrs. Charles A. Fleming. A life size Santa, sleigh and reindeer led by Rudolph were climbing the hill toward the house. A huge candy cane hung on the post of the yard lamp. The various windows were decorated with many colorful symbols of the season. These were hand-made of styrofoam.

A giant poinsettia centered each window on one side of the house lighted by soft green flood lights. The door welcomed guests with a large key centered on a background of pine.

Second award was given to Mrs. Ray Harden Jr. She had framed her porch with woven evergreens in which she had placed red satin poinsettias at intervals. A cheery snow man's head greeted passers-by with a big "Hi".

Third place went to Mrs. Joe Rogers. The traditional "Three Wise Men" were centered on the front of her roof with a large star highlighting the scene.

Mrs. Ernest Sheets won first place for the best decorated window. Her window was trimmed in blue lights framing a Christmas tree lighted with blue lights.

Mrs. Raymond Grabbil 1st entry was judging second best for her window outlined in colored lights framing a Christmas tree trimmed with various colored lights. Religious pictures were mounted in the window.

At the close of the tour, Mr. and Mrs. Fleming welcomed the group into their home for refreshments.

Mrs. Fleming had carried out the Christmas theme indoors. As guests came in they looked into a Nativity scene softly lit so as to seem lifelike. On the opposite side of the room a white musical church was arranged with white and gold singing angels. A large white Madonna arrangement was built of dark red and peppermint striped carnations, with a background of red ruskus and white.

The dining table, covered with a bright red cloth, was festively decorated with a large center piece built of a white, styrofoam base and evergreens with a large red and white candle centered in multi-colored Christmas balls. Special Christmas candles were placed in black candle holders framed with holly berries at each end of the table.

With a background of Christmas music, holiday cookies, sandwiches and coffee were served.

Household Hints

Here is a perfect way to remove the shell from a hard-cooked egg. Tap the eggs to crackle the shells. Now roll each cracked egg between the palms of your hands so the shells will loosen. Peel off the shells under cold water.

Your family like poppy seed? Spread crackers with soft butter and sprinkle with poppy seed. Heat in a moderate oven. Let cool a few seconds, then serve at once.

Ever serve stewed apples? Cut the peeled and cored apples in eighths and cook them in hot syrup until just tender. Flavor with vanilla. Wonderful served over vanilla ice cream.

How to store fresh fish: put it in a tightly covered container in the coldest part of your refrigerator. Use it within 24 hours.

Jigtime supper dish: Add tuna, broken into chunks, to canned macaroni with cheese sauce. Sprinkle with grated cheese and place in a moderate oven to heat.

PRINCESS MARGARET ROSE

Princess Margaret Named Woman Of Year By Editors

Proving that all the world loves a love story, Princess Margaret Rose of Britain was named Woman of the Year by the annual vote of women's editors of Associated Press newspapers throughout the country.

From the standpoint of news value, there was no doubt that the royal romance of the young princess and the dashing but divorced Group Captain Peter Townsend fired the imagination of the whole world for several weeks this Fall, while true love was weighed against royal tradition.

Voting on women news personalities outstanding in their various fields in 1955, the women's poll named the following:

Grace Kelly, the young actress from Philadelphia who won film-land's highest award early in the year, was named tops in entertainment for 1955 by vote of AP managing editors as well as women's editors.

So great has been her impact on the American public that she has started a whole new trend in the standard of film beauty and has influenced many of this year's fashion collections, all of which stress the fresh young American look.

Almost unanimously, Clare Boothe Luce was voted woman of the year in politics. The charming and controversial U. S. Ambassador to Italy returned to her post in Rome after a successful summer visit to Washington.

In the field of public service, 75-year-old Helen Keller was voted the outstanding woman. Blind and deaf since birth, she took a five-month 40,000-mile trip around the world on behalf of the blind, returned to receive a special citation from President Eisenhower's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

Also by almost unanimous vote, the incomparable Babe Zaharias again was named woman of the year in sports. Although this year, for almost the first time in her star-studded career, she won no major golf tournaments, she was the most talked-of and read-about figure in the feminine world of sports because of her gallant battle against cancer and her best-selling autobiography, "This Life I've Led."

Anne Morrow Lindbergh received the title of woman of the year in literature by overwhelming vote, for her sensitive and thoughtful book, "Gift from the Sea," written during a vacation on a tropical island, in which she viewed the tensions and complexities of the life of a modern woman at middle age, weaving her personal philosophy around the allegory of a sea shell.

Although she retired to private life on Aug. 1, Oveta Culp Hobby, former secretary of health, welfare and education, was voted the outstanding woman of 1955 in the field of education.

During her brief term as the only woman member of the Eisenhower cabinet she guided her department through two of the greatest controversial climaxes in the nation—the issue of racial integration in the schools, and the early confusion over the Salk polio vaccine.

Bernice Fitz-Gibbon, probably America's best-known advertising woman, was voted woman of the year in the field of business, after she resigned her post as advertising manager of one of New York's biggest department stores to open her own firm.

Farewell Party Honors Pastor And Family

A farewell party honoring the Rev. and Mrs. W. Nehrenz and family of Toledo was held Friday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gladden Troutman and family of E. Union St.

Pastor Nehrenz has accepted a call to become Director of Mexican Missions for the American Lutheran Church.

He and his family will leave the last of January for Mexico City, where they will reside.

A buffet supper was held, and a gift was presented the Nehrenz family.

Those present were: The Rev. G. J. Troutman and family of Groveport, Mrs. Louis Bockelman and family of Ustead, Mich., Mrs. Richard Fellmeth and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Gladden Troutman and family.

Booster Club Holds Annual Turkey Dinner

The GOP Booster club met in the home of Mrs. Roy and Miss Lucille Dumm of 340 Walnut St. for its annual turkey dinner recently.

The house was gaily decorated with holiday colors. After dinner, guests sang "Silent Night", "O Come All Ye Faithful", "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Hark The Herald Angels Sing".

A gift exchange, "grab-bag", and games provided entertainment for the group. Prizes were won by Mrs. Harry Styers Jr., Mrs. Dumm, and Mrs. H. E. Valentine. A special door prize was awarded Mrs. George Mavis.

Mrs. Robert M. Barnes of 578 E. Main St. will entertain the club at its January meeting.

Faye Leasure, Bob Huffer, Ez Pritchard, Robert McAlister, Bob Chalfin, Roy Huffer, Marilyn Crawford, Gail Dunlap, Jim Cook, Jackie Smith, Jack Young, Carol Goodchild, Kenny Smith, Kenny Crawford, Gary Mason, Ted Moon, Patsy Smith, Jay Curry, Margaret Huffer, Dick Alkire, Johnny Eshelman all of this community, and Carol Haas of Chillicothe.

CHOPPED Brazil nuts bring new texture interest and a distinctive nut flavor and richness to poultry stuffings. The Brazil nuts going into a traditional bread crumb stuffing make a stuffing which will compete in interest with turkey.

Brazil nuts have been used in poultry stuffings long enough now to have won a loyal following. So popular is this nut-enriched stuffing that many home cooks make an extra portion and bake it in foil.

It helps during the holiday dinner rush to have the Brazil nuts already shelled before assembling the stuffing. The crinkly tough shells of Brazil nuts are easily cracked if the nuts are boiled three minutes in water. Then drain, cover with cold water a minute; drain and crack.

Brazil Nut Stuffing
1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 cups chopped Brazil nuts
1/2 cup chopped parsley
1 cup chopped celery and leaves

2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
8 cups soft bread crumbs (optional)
2 eggs, beaten (optional)
1 cup stock or water

Melt butter in large saucepan or skillet; add onion and cook over low heat until onion is tender, but not brown. Stir in Brazil nuts, parsley, celery, salt, pepper and poultry seasoning; add bread crumbs and toss lightly. Remove from heat, stir in beaten eggs and stock or water. YIELD: Stuffing for 12-pound turkey, or 2 6-pound turkeys, using 3/4 stuffing per pound dressed weight.

Note: If desired, stuffing may be baked separately to serve with chicken, veal or beef. Place stuffing in foil; seal edges tightly. Bake in a moderate oven (350-375° F.), 35 minutes, or in a slow oven (325° F.), 45 minutes.

Serviceman's Birthday Noted

A combined Christmas and birthday dinner was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hartranft of Tarlton, recently.

The honored guest was David Lee Hartranft, who is stationed at Amarillo, Tex. Air Force Base. He was observing his 20th birthday.

Others present were: Mr. and Mrs. John Hartley and sons Donald and Dale and daughter Susan, of Circleville Route 4; Mr. and Mrs. John Dove, and son Ronald Lee, of Rhode Island; Dorothy and Ethel of the home, and the host and hostess.

Mrs. Mowery Has Dinner Guests

Mrs. Hazel Mowery of 831 Pershing Dr. had the following guests for Christmas dinner:

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mowery and Suzanne; Mr. and Mrs. George Mowery, Donna and Ray; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cain, Pat, Jimmie Jo and Cindy Lou; Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Wells, Mike and Eddie; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Reynolds, Jimmie, Ruth Elaine, Lauragene and Dale Chaney.

If you need to keep ground meat longer than 24 hours, wrap it in waxed paper and freeze it.

Janet Emerine Is Engaged To Darrell Norris

Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Emerine Sr. of Route 3, Dunkle Rd. are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Janet, to Mr. Darrell Norris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Norris, of Ashville Route 1.

Miss Emerine is a graduate of Circleville High School and is now employed by the Ralston Purina Company.

Mr. Norris is a graduate of Walnut Township High School and is now a senior at Ohio State University, where he is a member of Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity, and the Scabbard and Blade Military Honorary Society.

Upon graduation from College in March, Mr. Norris will leave for pilot training in the United States Air Force in Texas.

No definite date has been set for the wedding.

Decorations Awards Given By Monrovia Garden Club

Five Presentations Made In Mt. Sterling

Christmas decorations were judged in the Mt. Sterling community recently and awards were presented to five families by the Monrovia Garden Club.

Mrs. L. D. Howe of Chillicothe judged the decorations. She was accompanied by her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Heirman of Indiana.

First place for over-all decoration was won by Mrs. Charles A. Fleming. A life size Santa, sleigh and reindeer led by Rudolph were climbing the hill toward the house. A huge candy cane hung on the post of the yard lamp. The various windows were decorated with many colorful symbols of the season. These were hand-made of styrofoam.

A giant poinsettia centered each window on one side of the house lighted by soft green flood lights. The door welcomed guests with a large key centered on a background of pine.

Second award was given to Mrs. Ray Harden Jr. She had framed her porch with waven evergreens in which she had placed red satin poinsettias at intervals. A cheery snow man's head greeted passers-by with a big "Hi".

Third place went to Mrs. Joe Rogers. The traditional "Three Wise Men" were centered on the front of her roof with a large star highlighting the scene.

Mrs. Ernest Sheets won first place for the best decorated window. Her window was trimmed in blue lights framing a Christmas tree lighted with blue lights.

Mrs. Raymond Grabill 1st entry was judging second best for her window outlined in colored lights framing a Christmas tree trimmed with various colored lights. Religious pictures were mounted in the window.

At the close of the tour, Mr. and Mrs. Fleming welcomed the group into their home for refreshments.

Mrs. Fleming had carried out the Christmas theme indoors. As guests came in they looked into a Nativity scene softly lit so as to seem lifelike. On the opposite side of the room a white musical church was arranged with white and gold singing angels. A large white Madonna arrangement was built of dark red and peppermint striped carnations with a background of red ruskus and white.

The dining table, covered with a bright red cloth, was festively decorated with a large center piece built of a white styrofoam base and evergreens with a large red and white candle centered in multi-colored Christmas balls. Special Christmas candles were placed in black candle holders framed with holly berries at each end of the table.

With a background of Christmas music, holiday cookies, sandwiches and coffee were served.

Inventor of Radar Now Builds 'Brains'

Sir Robert Watson-Watt sits in front of the maze of wires and tubes that is Alwac III.

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

CHICAGO—The man whose own brain produced radar and was knighted by Britain and given the Medal of Merit by the United States for contributing heavily to the Allies' winning of World War II has turned to making mechanical brains.

He is Sir Robert Watson-Watt, whose electronic Alwac III has just been installed here at the Institute of Gas Technology at the Illinois Institute of Technology. It will solve in ten minutes the type of knotty mathematical problems which formerly took the gas industry's researchers more than two weeks of non-stop figuring.

IT WAS Watson-Watt who, as a Scottish physicist in the early 30's, hit upon the most practical way of sending out electronic pulsations and recording their echoes to give man an extra-sensory ability to detect objects he could not see.

The electronic brain he has developed is a by-product of that research, which led to the installation in 1935 of Britain's first chain of radar warning stations. The stations became the keystone of England's defense that won "the Battle of Britain" by spotting swarms of Hitler's raiding aircraft as they approached.

Watson-Watt shared the information with U. S. scientists in the first large-scale collaboration between British and American physicists, and taught the Canadians how to build and use radar.

ONE OF his big stumbling blocks was how to do the mathematics fast enough to interpret the data that radar collected. "We'll have to develop electronic brains," he concluded.

Alwac III will be used here to solve problems involving the best composition of gas mixtures for piping to furnaces and gas stoves, pressure drops and flows, flame temperatures, thermodynamic properties of gases and other complex research problems.

This is the kind of work being done for industry by such giant "brains" as Univac, which was introduced to the public as an election forecaster in the last two Presidential contests, but compared with it, Alwac III is a "flivver."

It costs only about $60,000 as compared to $1,000,000 or more for each giant, and is being hailed as the device which will bring electronic brains within financial reach of many companies.

Sir Robert started out as a physics teacher, but is becoming an industrialist since he formed his own company in England, Adalia, Inc., to do what he calls "operational research" on problems of business. He also has taken positions as president and board chairman for the California concern, Logistics Research, Inc., which is ready to put electronic brains on a mass production line.

He regards his own transformation as only slightly less remarkable than the transition of radar from wartime detection to peacetime solving of mathematical equations. He thought that he always would be "just a teacher."

ALWAC III is regarded as almost "vest pocket" in size compared with most electronic brains, because it is housed in only a ten-foot stretch of cabinets, 28 inches deep and 64 inches high. Its control panel is a box scarcely a foot square with three dozen buttons and switches and signal lights.

It is known as the magnetic "memory" drum type of "brain," and is filled with 280 vacuum tubes and 5,000 diodes, most of them in the "logic" section.

Actually, Watson-Watt explains that the machine can do nothing without its human technicians, and therefore the electronic brain will never do all the thinking.

However, since multiplication or division of two 10-digit numbers can be accomplished by the "brain" at a rate of 60 operations a second, and simple addition or subtraction at 100 to 1,000 a second, the human element still is the limiting factor and the bottleneck.

Dem Hopelers Would Like Lausche's Nod

Ohio Chief's Blessing Said Needed To Jell Gubernatorial Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Statehouse politicians say a nod from Gov. Frank J. Lausche would break the lagging Democratic gubernatorial race wide open.

Lausche announced for U.S. senator last week, ending speculation that he might seek a sixth term, without designating a party heir-apparent.

Politicians figured that Democratic hopefuls were reluctant to toss their hats into the ring without Lausche's blessing. Such a move, they said, would be taken as an implied promise by Lausche to campaign for the candidate receiving his approval.

By contrast, the Republican race for governor appears clear cut. Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill of Marietta and Lt. Gov. John W. Brown of Medina are avowed opponents for the GOP nomination with only a slight prospect of sharing in the field with other competitors.

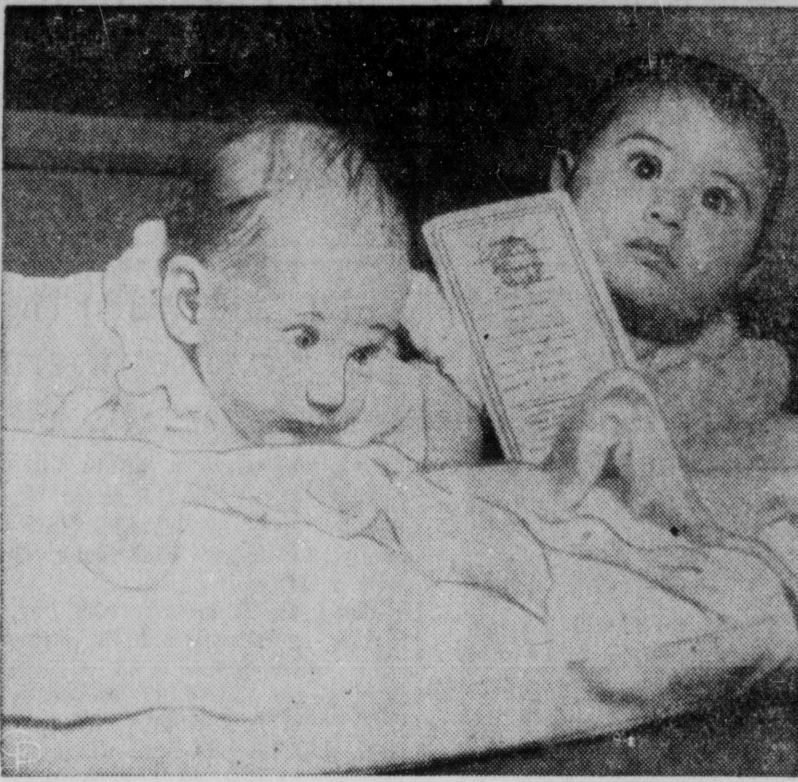

Robert W. Reider, Port Clinton publisher who declared for governor before Lausche announced for senator, says he is in the Democratic race to stay.

The former state representative said he also would continue to work against Lausche's bid to become Ohio "favorite son" candidate for president at the Democratic nominating convention next year.

Lausche said he has received numerous requests from supporters over the state for permission required by law to seek election in the May primaries as delegates to the convention pledged to Lausche as "favorite son." The governor has said he expected competition in the election of delegates.

Reider repeated claims that Lausche has won elections with the help of Republicans by campaigning for himself at the expense of other Democratic office-seekers. A prepared statement said:

"Lausche will try to name his

TINA MARIE MARONEY (left), 6 weeks, and Ruben Gilbert Isais, 5 months, are wide-eyed with surprise to learn they have been awarded $500 educational insurance policies. Their names were picked by lot from among those of the 525 babies born since the Feb. 4 opening of the Bella Vista Community hospital in Los Angeles. The hospital will pay all premiums on the policies for the next 18 years.

heir and thereby butter his bread both in Columbus and Washington. . . .

"I continue to oppose Lausche in his candidacy for Ohio favorite son and for the same reasons I have often expressed. His announcement did not include whether, in renouncing gubernatorial aims, he also renounces control of the Democratic Party in Ohio. . . .

"I am not so naive as to assume that Lausche will surrender his political machine or share the resources of the Democratic Party with a state of Democrats running for state office. He never has before. . . .

"As to the primary, the more candidates seeking the nomination, the greater the chance to rescue the Democratic Party before the election in 1956. Remember, the downward path of the Democrats in this state has its milestones—the unopposed primaries arranged by Lausche."

Lausche remained silent after his senatorial announcement and politicians recalled that he gave only token support to former Cleveland Mayor Thomas A. Burke in his 1954 race for senator.

Burke received from Lausche an interim Senate appointment after the death of GOP Sen. Robert A. Taft and Burke sought election for the remaining two years of Taft's term. George H. Bender, veteran congressman and long time Cuyahoga County Republican leader, shaded Burke by some 3,000 votes. Bender and Lausche are expected to be unopposed for their party nominations for election next November to a full six-year Senate term.

Burke drew top mention as a candidate for governor but politicians figured he might want some assurance of substantial help from Lausche before making the race.

Other prospective candidates include:

Michael V. DiSalle of Toledo, former federal price controller, who said he wanted more time to size up the situation.

Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze of Cleveland who has discouraged talk about his prospects.

Albert A. Porter, Cuyahoga County engineer, regarded as a favorite of the anti-Lausche faction led by Cuyahoga County Chairman Ray T. Miller.

Stephen M. Young of Cleveland, former congressman also looked upon as attorney general timber.

State Rep. Michael J. Crosser of Cleveland Heights, a frequent critic of the Lausche administration in the last Legislature.

Paul F. Ward of Columbus, the 1952 and 1954 nominee for attorney general, reported eyeing the governorship.

Mark Flanagan of Youngstown, editor of the Ohio Tavern News, and active in Mahoning County party circles.

Robert A. Moulton of Galion, chairman of the state utilities commission. Moulton, a former state representative, has long been a Lausche confidante.

Liquor Stores Tightening Rules

CLEVELAND (AP)—State Liquor Director William C. Bryant says an affidavit system covering young patrons at state liquor stores will be adopted soon.

Bryant said the new system would go into effect as soon as a sworn statement form can be printed and distributed among the state's 280 retail outlets.

Bryant said store employees would single out patrons who appear to be under 25 years of age and ask them for proof of their age as shown on drivers' licenses or draft cards. Lacking such proof, the customer would be required to swear he was over 21.

Inventor of Radar Now Builds 'Brains'

Sir Robert Watson-Watt sits in front of the maze of wires and tubes that is Alwac III.

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

CHICAGO—The man whose own brain produced radar and was knighted by Britain and given the Medal of Merit by the United States for contributing heavily to the Allies' winning of World War II has turned to making mechanical brains.

He is Sir Robert Watson-Watt, whose electronic Alwac III has just been installed here at the Institute of Gas Technology at the Illinois Institute of Technology. It will solve in ten minutes the type of knotty mathematical problems which formerly took the gas industry's researchers more than two weeks of non-stop figuring.

IT WAS Watson-Watt who, as a Scottish physicist in the early '30's, hit upon the most practical way of sending out electronic pulsations and recording their echoes to give man an extra-sensory ability to detect objects he could not see.

The electronic brain he has developed is a by-product of that research, which led to the installation in 1935 of Britain's first chain of radar warning stations. The stations became the keystone of England's defense that won "The Battle of Britain" by spotting swarms of Hitler's raiding aircraft as they approached.

Watson-Watt shared the information with U. S. scientists in the first large-scale collaboration between British and American physicists, and taught the Canadians how to build and use radar.

ONE OF his big stumbling blocks was how to do the mathematics fast enough to interpret the data that radar collected. "We'll have to develop electronic brains," he concluded.

Alwac III will be used here to solve problems involving the best composition of gas mixtures for piping to furnaces and gas stoves, pressure drops and flows, flame temperatures, thermodynamic properties of gases and other complex research problems.

Dem Hopefuls Would Like Lausche's Nod

Ohio Chief's Blessing Said Needed To Jell Gubernatorial Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Statehouse politicians say a nod from Gov. Frank J. Lausche would break the lagging Democratic gubernatorial race wide open.

Lausche announced for U.S. senator last week, ending speculation that he might seek a sixth term, without designating a party heir-apparent.

Politicians figured that Democratic hopefuls were reluctant to toss their hats into the ring without Lausche's blessing. Such a move, they said, would be taken as an implied promise by Lausche to campaign for the candidate receiving his approval.

By contrast, the Republican race for governor appears clear cut. Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill of Marietta and Lt. Gov. John W. Brown of Medina are avowed opponents for the GOP nomination with only a slight prospect of sharing the field with other competitors.

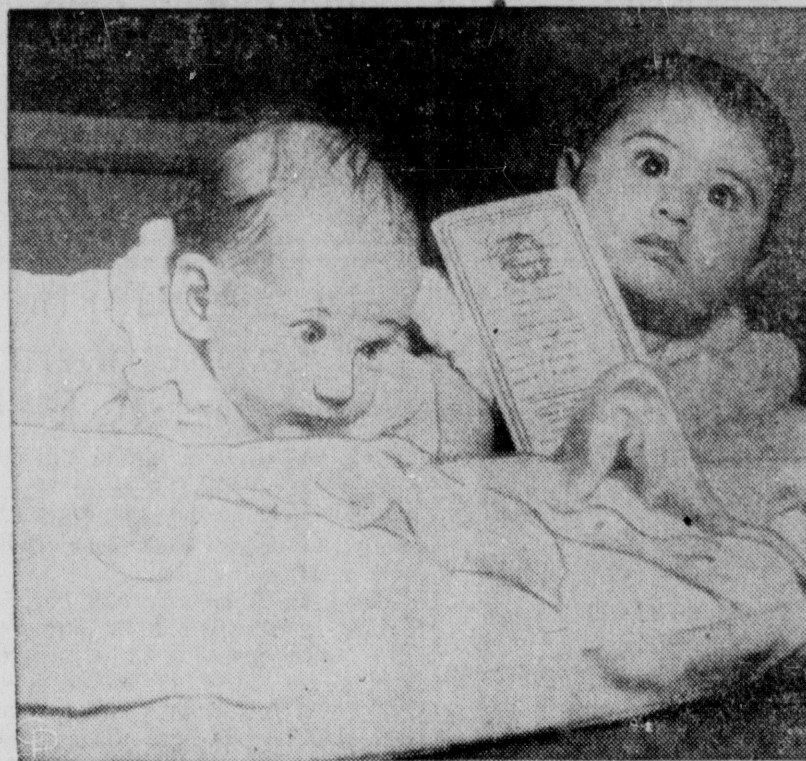

Robert W. Reider, Port Clinton publisher who declared for governor before Lausche announced for senator, says he is in the Democratic race to stay.

The former state representative said he also would continue to work against Lausche's bid to become Ohio "favorite son" candidate for president at the Democratic nominating convention next year.

Lausche said he has received numerous requests from supporters over the state for permission required by law to seek election in the May primaries as delegates to the convention pledged to Lausche as "favorite son". The governor has said he expected competition in the election of delegates.

Reider repeated claims that Lausche has won elections with the help of Republicans by campaigning for himself at the expense of other Democratic office-seekers. A prepared statement said:

"Lausche will try to name his heir and thereby butter his bread both in Columbus and Washington.

"I continue to oppose Lausche in his candidacy for Ohio favorite son and for the same reasons I have often expressed. His announcement did not include whether, in renouncing gubernatorial aims, he also renounces control of the Democratic Party in Ohio. . . .

"I am not so naive as to assume that Lausche will surrender his political machine or share the resources of the Democratic Party with a slate of Democrats running for state office. He never has before. . . .

"As to the primary, the more candidates seeking the nomination, the greater the chance to rescue the Democratic Party before the election in 1956. Remember, the downward path of the Democrats in this state has its milestones—the unopposed primaries arranged by Lausche." Lausche remained silent after his senatorial announcement and politicians recalled that he gave only token support to former Cleveland Mayor Thomas A. Burke in his 1954 race for senator.

Burke received from Lausche an interim Senate appointment after the death of GOP Sen. Robert A. Taft and Burke sought election for the remaining two years of Taft's term. George H. Bender, veteran congressman and long time Cuyahoga County Republican leader, shaded Burke by some 3,000 votes.

San Francisco Nowing Down All Opponents

Dons Making Experts
Look Good By Sweeping
New York Tournament

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

San Francisco is the type of basketball team that sports writers admire. The Dons make the experts look good.

Sports folks have consistently rated San Francisco tops in the Associated Press collegiate rankings this season. The Golden Stateers justified the tribute by sweeping the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference Holiday Festival tournament at Madison Square Garden Friday night, crushing UCLA 70-53.

Elsewhere, however, top-rated teams fared only so-so in tournament play. Utah, rated No. 7, fell before Notre Dame in the finals of the Sugar Bowl tournament.

65. Southern Methodist handed No. 17, its first defeat of the year as the Mustangs took an over-67-73 thriller and the championship of the Southwest Conference tournament.

But form held true in the Winter Invitational tournament at College Park, Md., when George Washington, ranked 12th, won the championship from No. 16 Michigan 65-62. And fourth-ranked North Carolina spoiled eighth-place Duke's unbeaten record with a 76-64 triumph in the semifinals of the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N. C. that set the stage for the Tar Heels' meeting with third-ranked N.C. State in the Classic finale today.

N.C. State moved into the finals of the expense of Wake Forest, 65-56.

Unranked teams stole the spotlight in other sections of the country as the annual holiday tournament frenzy neared an end. West Virginia hit on 33 of 47 free throws in the drubbing Miami (Fla.) 83-78.

Major tournament. In Kansas City, little Gary Thompson provided the big points as Iowa State won its first Big 7 Conference tournament crown with a 67-56 victory over Kansas.

The nation's televisioners watched the final half of the Garden main event. All-America Bill Russell and Co. gave the viewers and 16,357 paying customers plenty to gape at as they breezed past the Uclans 65-41.

The victory, San Francisco's 36th straight, left the Dons only three short of the all-time college mark of 39 consecutive triumphs posted by Long Island U. in 1935-37 and equaled by Seton Hall in 1939-41.

Notre Dame's Sugar Bowl title was its second straight. Key man John Smith who netted 27 points. Utah's hopes sagged when ace center John Bunte fouled out with more than 15 minutes remaining.

Big Jim Kebs was the hero for SMU when he tallied three quick points in the overtime period to give the Mustangs victory. Rice, led by 6-10 Temple Tucker, had surged from behind to erase a 7-point SMU lead in the final minutes and gain a 67-67 tie.

Joe Holup set the All-America teams booming with a 31-point performance for GW's colonials in the Winter Invitational. Holup was named to an all-tournament team along with George Klein of GW, Duane Peterson and Hooks McCoy of Michigan State and Bob Kessler of Maryland.

North Carolina thrilled a crowd of 12,400 in Reynolds Coliseum by mounting a 16-point halftime deficit. The loss was Duke's first in eight starts.

The second annual Richmond Invitational went to Cincinnati's Bearcats, 89-60 victors over Richmond. Cincinnati spurred to a 21-point bulge at halftime.

Washington and Lee faces Evansville, Ind., today in the

Kingston Zips Past Jackson In 78-56 Win

Lacking their usual finesse, Jackson's Wildcats tasted defeat Friday night as the vengeance-minded Kingston Red Skins, showing deadly accuracy, pleased their home crowd with a 78-56 victory.

The hot Kingston quintet, making six of their first field goal attempts, took a 27-19 first quarter lead which was lengthened to 40-29 at half time.

In the third canto, the Wildcats began to display some of their pre-holiday form and roared back to knot the score at 34-34 with about a minute to go in the period.

At this point Don Smith fouled out with 17 points to his credit, high for Jackson.

IT WAS also at this time that Jackson got as frigid as the weather outside the gym as the Wildcats were able to make only two foul shots in the last quarter while the Red Skins were shooting in 20 points to avenge their earlier loss to the Wildcats.

Kingston played more than half the contest without its star center, Wolfen, who got four fouls in the first quarter. Kingston's Minor and Jackson's Longberry also fouled out in the fourth quarter.

High man for the evening was Beavers with 22 points. He dropped in 12 of 15 foul tries and five baskets. His teammate, Congrove found the range for 20 points.

Kingston's season record now stands at 7-3 while Jackson shows a 5-4 season slate.

The Red Skins made the evening complete by taking the reserve tilt, 46-39.

finals of the All-America City tournament at Owensboro, Ky. Evansville stunned previously unbeaten Florida, 85-69, in Friday night's semifinals. The Generals kept pace by spoiling Kentucky Wesleyan's perfect record, 88-78.

The undefeated Dutchmen of Hofstra notched their 11th victory, beating Muhlenberg, 91-78, in the finals of the winner's annual tournament. Hofstra's 6-6 center, Bill Thibben, tallied 34 points for a tournament record of 96 points in three games.

The New England tournament title went to Connecticut for the second time in three years when the Uconn outclassed host Colby, 79-71, at Waterville, Maine.

At Fayetteville, W.Va., Marshall eased past Denver, 79-78, to win the Holiday tourney crown.

The pre-tourney favorite, Western Illinois, came through at Omaha, to win the NAIA "tip-off" championship with an 83-72 victory over Gustavus Adolphus. The Midwest Collegiate tourney title went to Indiana State's Sycamores, 74-73 victors over the Quantic Marines.

In non-tournament games, fifth-ranked Iowa continued to fade in losing to California's Golden Bears at Berkeley, 70-45. Other tourists fared poorly as host Stanford tripped Wisconsin, 65-53, Butler downed Princeton 89-70, and Bradley bounced Dartmouth, 80-74.

Jim Beliveau likes to have Terry Sawchuk in the nets when he's playing hockey. Of Beliveau's first 11 goals this season, seven were scored against Sawchuk.

Reporter Dreams Of High Resolutions In Sports Field

By JIM KENSIL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—New Year's resolutions—like sports records—are made to be broken.

Born in the haze of the office Christmas party, most of the resolutions go down the hatch in the wee hours of the New Year.

Sports records are usually more durable. And until George Trautman starts clocking the shifting minor league franchises around a turn, they will probably remain such.

Having never set an athletic mark, nor kept a resolution (of any kind), we can't offer expert opinion, but there is a theory that record-setting does more than generally believed to influence resolution-making in the sports world.

Now, slow down. Hold those counter-theories for a little while—a year, in fact. Here are some of the records foreseen for the upcoming year, and the resolutions they are likely to foster:

January—Robin Freeman registers 97 points (including some in the unfinished St. John Arena) as Ohio State's basketball team pulverizes Wisconsin by a score that defies tallying. Bevo Francis resolves to get 98 next time the Boston Whirlwinds are booked into the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

February—Columbus Jets purchase Robin Roberts from Philadelphia Phillies for record 10 million dollars in straight cash deal.

Fifteen major league club owners resolve to read waiver lists more carefully and look into advantages of minor league home ownership.

March—Unbeaten Dayton wins NIT basketball crown in Madison Square Garden without giving up a single point tournament play. NBA board of directors pushes resolution to move Philadelphia Warrior franchise to the banks of the Miami.

April—Cleveland Indian Herb Score fans 19 batters to surpass

the single game record of teammate Bob Feller. Rapid Robert resolves to warm up lefthanded.

May—Wes Santee, running down the center strip of the Northern Ohio Turnpike, sets new world mark of 3:50.1 for the mile. James Shocknessy, turnpike commission chairman, offers resolution to commission backing Strongsville's bid for 1956 Olympics.

June—Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy signs unheard of one-year, $200,000 contract which includes mortgage on Coach Buddy Park.

San Francisco Bowling Down All Opponents

Dons Making Experts Look Good By Sweeping New York Tournament

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

San Francisco is the type of basketball team that sports writers admire. The Dons make the experts look good.

Sports folks have consistently rated San Francisco tops in the Associated Press collegiate rankings this season. The Golden Stateers justified the tribute by sweeping the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference Holiday Festival tournament at Madison Square Garden Friday night, crushing UCLA 70-53.

Elsewhere, however, top-rated teams fared only so-so in tournament play. Utah, rated No. 7, fell before Notre Dame in the finals of the Sugar Bowl tournament. Duke, Southern Methodist handed ice, No. 17, its first defeat of the year as the Mustangs took an overtime 76-73 thriller and the championship of the Southwest Conference tournament.

But form held true in the Winter Invitational tournament at College Park, Md., when George Washington, ranked 12th, won the championship from No. 16 Michigan 65-62. And fourth-ranked North Carolina spoiled eighth-ranked Duke's unbeaten record with a 76-64 triumph in the semifinals of the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N. C. that set the stage for the Tar Heels' meeting with third-ranked N.C. State in the classic finale today.

N.C. State moved into the finals at the expense of Wake Forest, 65-56. Unranked teams stole the spotlight in other sections of the country as the annual holiday tournament frenzy neared an end. West Virginia hit on 33 of 47 free throws in the drubbing Miami (Fla.) 83-78 in the regular tournament. In Kansas City, little Gary Thompson provided the big points as Iowa State won its first Big 7 Conference tournament crown with a 67-56 victory over Kansas.

The nation's television viewers watched the final half of the Garden main event, All-America Bill Russell and Co. gave the viewers and 16,357 paying customers plenty to gape at as they breezed past the Uclans 85-65. The victory, San Francisco's 36th straight, left the Dons only three short of the all-time college mark of 39 consecutive triumphs posted by Long Island U. in 1935-37 and equaled by Seton Hall in 1939-41.

Notre Dame's Sugar Bowl title was its second straight. Key man John Smith who netted 27 points, Utah's hopes sagged when ace center John Bunte fouled out with more than 15 minutes remaining. Big Jim Kebs was the hero for SMU when he tallied three quick points in the overtime period to give the Mustangs victory. Rice, led by 6-10 Temple Tucker, had surged from behind to erase a 10-point SMU lead in the final minutes and gain a 67-67 tie.

Joe Holup set the All-America teams booming with a 31-point performance for GW's colonials in the Winter Invitational. Holup was named to an all-tournament team along with George Klein of GW, Duane Peterson and Hooks McCoy of Michigan State and Bob Kessler of Maryland.

North Carolina thrilled a crowd of 12,400 in Reynolds Coliseum by outmouthing a 16-point halftime deficit. The loss was Duke's first in eight starts.

The second annual Richmond Invitational went to Cincinnati's Bearcats, 89-60 victors over Richmond. Cincinnati spurted to a 21-point bulge at halftime.

Washington and Lee faces Evansville, Ind., today in the

Kingston Zips Past Jackson In 78-56 Win

Lacking their usual finesse, Jackson's Wildcats tasted defeat Friday night as the vengeance-minded Kingston Red Skins, showing deadly accuracy, pleased their home crowd with a 78-56 victory.

The hot Kingston quintet, making six of their first field goal attempts, took a 27-19 first quarter lead which was lengthened to 40-29 at half time.

In the third canto, the Wildcats began to display some of their pre-holiday form and roared back to knot the score at 54-44 with about a minute to go in the period.

At this point Don Smith fouled out with 17 points to his credit, high for Jackson.

IT WAS also at this time that Jackson got as frigid as the weather outside the gym as the Wildcats were able to make only two foul shots in the last quarter while the Red Skins were shooting in 20 points to avenge their earlier loss to the Wildcats.

Kingston played more than half the contest without its star center, Wolfen, who got four fouls in the first quarter. Kingston's Minor and Jackson's Longberry also fouled out in the fourth quarter.

High man for the evening was Beavers with 22 points. He dropped in 12 of 15 foul tries and five baskets. His teammate, Congrove found the range for 20 points.

Jackson's season record now stands at 7-3 while Kingston shows a 5-4 season slate.

The Red Skins made the evening complete by taking the reserve tilt, 46-39.

finals of the All-American City tournament at Owensboro, Ky. Evansville stunned previously unbeaten Florida, 85-69, in Friday night's semifinals. The Generals kept pace by spoiling Kentucky Wesleyan's perfect record, 88-78.

The undefeated Dutchmen of Hofstra notched their 11th victory, beating Muhlenberg, 91-78, in the finals of the winner's annual tournament. Hofstra's 6-6 center, Bill Thibien, tallied 34 points for a tournament record of 96 points in three games.

The New England tournament title went to Connecticut for the second time in three years when the Uconn outlasted host Colby, 79-71, at Waterville, Maine.

At Fayetteville, W.Va., Marshall eased past Denver, 79-78, to win the Holiday tourney crown.

The pre-tourney favorite, Western Illinois, came through at Omaha, to win the NAIA "tip-off" championship with an 83-72 victory over Gustavus Adolphus. The Midwest Collegiate tourney title went to Indiana State's Sycamores, 74-73 victors over the Quantic Marines.

In non-tournament games, fifth-ranked Iowa continued to fade in losing to California's Golden Bears at Berkeley, 70-45. Other tourists fared poorly as host Stanford tripped Wisconsin, 65-53, Butler downed Princeton 89-70, and Bradley bounced Dartmouth, 80-74.

Jim Beliveau likes to have Terry Sawchuk in the nets when he's playing hockey. Of Beliveau's first 11 goals this season, seven were scored against Sawchuk.

Reporter Dreams Of High Resolutions In Sports Field

By JIM KENSIL
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—New Year's resolutions—like sports records—are made to be broken.

Born in the haze of the office Christmas party, most of the resolutions go down the hatch in the wee hours of the New Year.

Sports records are usually more durable. And until George Trautman starts clocking the shifting minor league franchises around a turn, they will probably remain such.

Having never set an athletic mark, nor kept a resolution (of any kind), we can't offer expert opinion, but there is a theory that record-setting does more than generally believed to influence resolution-making in the sports world.

Now, slow down. Hold those counter-theories for a little while—a year, in fact. Here are some of the records foreseen for the upcoming year, and the resolutions they are likely to foster:

January—Robin Freeman registers 97 points (including some in the unfinished St. John Arena) as Ohio State's basketball team pulverizes Wisconsin by a score that defies tallying. Bevo Francis resolves to get 98 next time the Boston Whirlwinds are booked into the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

February—Columbus Jets purchase Robin Roberts from Philadelphia Phillies for record 10 million dollars in straight cash deal. Fifteen major league club owners resolve to read waiver lists more carefully and look into advantages of minor league home ownership.

March—Unbeaten Dayton wins NIT basketball crown in Madison Square Garden without giving up a single point tournament play. NBA board of directors pushes resolution to move Philadelphia Warrior franchise to the banks of the Miami.

April—Cleveland Indian Herb Score fans 19 batters to surpass

the single game record of teammate Bob Feller. Rapid Robert resolves to warm up lefthanded.

May—Wes Santee, running down the center strip of the Northern Ohio Turnpike, sets new world mark of 3:50.1 for the mile. James Shocknessy, turnpike commission chairman, offers resolution to commission backing Strongsville's bid for 1956 Olympics.

June—Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy signs unheard-of one-year, $200,000 contract which includes mortgage on Coach Buddy Park.

Late Odds Growing Short On Favorites In Bowl Tilts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Michigan State saw its edge over UCLA in the Rose Bowl cut from 7 to 6 points and Georgia Tech, once a whopping 13-point choice, fell to 6 over Pittsburgh in the Sugar Bowl.

There's not more than a touch-down difference in any of the big games, according to latest odds, "pick 'em" status by kickoff time.

While Oklahoma's national champions held firm as a 7-point choice over Maryland in the "prestige" conflict at Miami, the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., and a trio of attractions involving picked senior players.

The largest of these is the annual East-West Shrine game at San Francisco, to be witnessed by 61,000, with Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy of Ohio State making the East squad a 7-point favorite.

Auburn is a six-point pick over Vanderbilt in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., where 36,000 are expected to see the 2 p.m. kickoff. The Blue forces are a slim six over the Grays in the North-South at Montgomery, Ala., and there's little to choose between the Skyline and Border Conference all-stars in the Salad Bowl at Phoenix, Ariz.

The Blue-Gray, starting at 2:30 p.m. EST, and the East-West, at 4:45 p.m., both are to be televised by NBC. The Gator Bowl is to be telecast by CBS.

The main events are scheduled Monday when some 400,000 fans will pay more than $2,000,000 to see four major bowl games and three minor ones.

Penny Lucas rolled a 299 game at Gossett's New York Riveria alleys. After 11 straight strikes the 5 pin wiggled but failed to fall. Her three-game series was 630.

Michigan Relay Team Awaits Test

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Michigan's undefeated mile relay team will try tomorrow to add a Sugar Bowl track championship to its long string of honors.

The Michigan speedsters will take part in the 1600 meter run against trackmen from Texas, Texas A&M, Oklahoma, Oklahoma A&M and Louisiana State.

All events in the six-event Sugar Bowl meet will be in metric distances because of the approaching Olympic Games.

Cocktails originated in New Orleans.

2 New Driver License Systems Go Into Effect Here Jan. 3

Appointments, Tests Required By Applicants

Nine Central Ohio Counties To Adopt Permit Innovation

State Patrolman Gene Miller, in speaking before the Circleville Rotary Club earlier this week, brought to light a proposal which will eventually be carried out throughout the state.

Patrolman Miller said that he thought the practice of taking of an examination before even a temporary driver's permit is issued would make better motorists for the future. Previously, an examination (both written and actually driving) was required only when applying for the regular permit.

Franklin County recently took the first step in this direction when it ordered all driver license applicants to undergo a vision check and written test prior to being issued a temporary license. (A temporary license allows the applicant to drive only as long as there is a licensed driver sitting along side.)

The plan was put into effect in that county only at first so that the driver licensing section of the State Patrol would be able to develop a smooth working procedure. As of Jan. 3, nine central Ohio counties (including Pickaway) will adopt a similar system.

IN ADDITION to the requirement of taking a test before receiving a temporary permit, applicants will have to make an appointment in advance for the actual driver's test. Applicants desiring an appointment for the driving examination should contact the State Patrol driver examiner at 219 S. Court St. He will be available on Thursdays and Fridays from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Under the appointment system, every applicant for a regular driver's license must have a pre-arrangement to take a test before reporting to the examiner here. This will eliminate unnecessary waiting for the applicant and will speed up the entire program of giving tests.

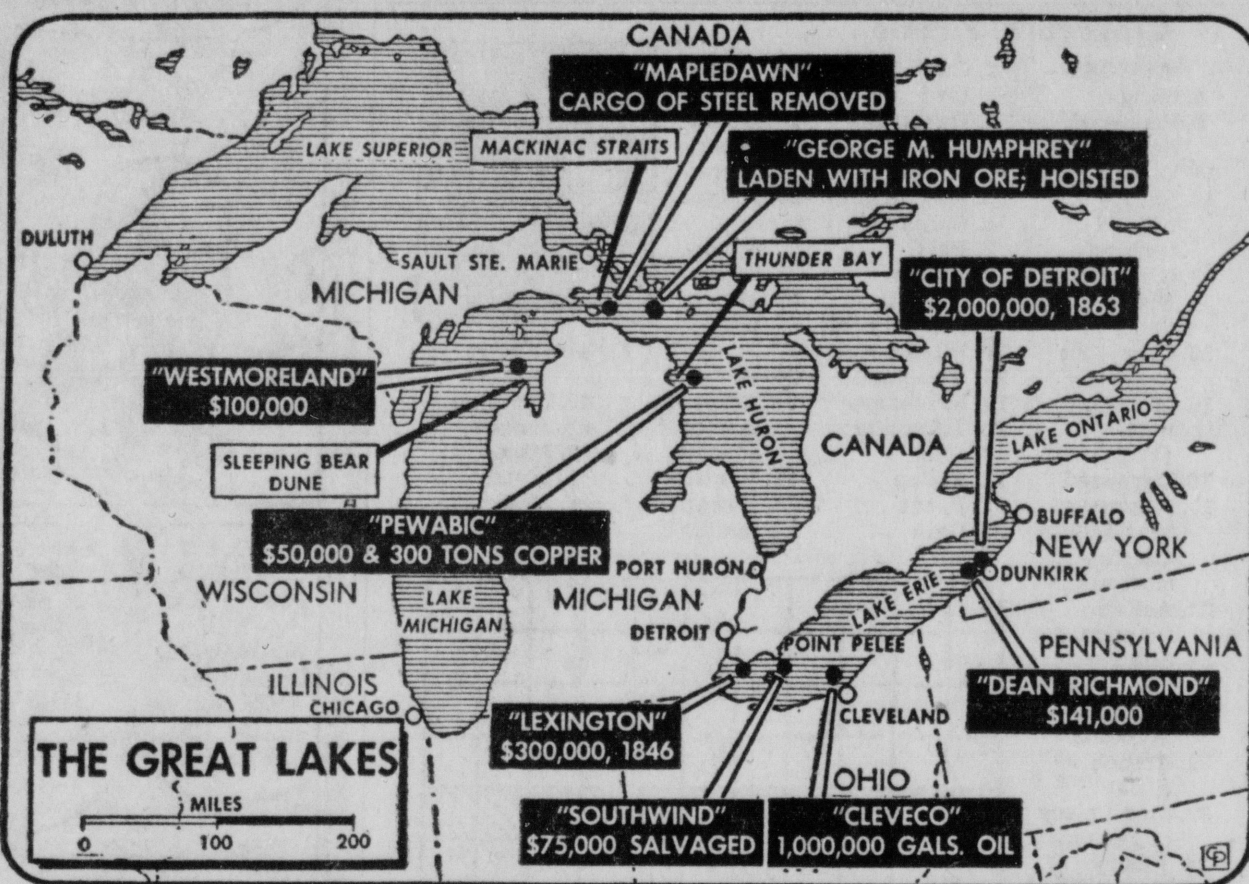

Those who cannot keep appointments should cancel them as soon as possible, otherwise it may be two weeks or more before a new test can be scheduled. No appointment is necessary for the pre-temporary permit test.

All new drivers and persons whose license has expired more than a year must take the pre-examination. These will be given here on Thursdays and Fridays between 11 and 11:30 a. m. Other counties, besides Pickaway and Franklin, which will adopt the two systems include: Fairfield, Delaware, Knox, Madison, Licking, Union and Perry.

U. C. FELTY, director of the Department of Highway Safety in Ohio, said that approximately 700,000 persons apply for temporary driving permits in the state each year. All of these will eventually come under the two new systems.

"We have no way of knowing whether these thousands of potential drivers have the vision required to make safe drivers," Felty declared. "Furthermore, there is no way of knowing whether they are capable of reading highway

Sunken Treasure, $3 Million Worth, Lies at Bottom of the Great Lakes

Map shows approximate location of treasure ships lost in Great Lakes waters.

By REX STANLEY
Central Press Association Correspondent

DETROIT, Mich.—While modern treasure hunters probe the depths of far-off waters for pirate wrecks, $3 million in sunken, unrecovered riches lie within the United States.

It is greater wealth than Captain Kidd or Blackbeard ever captured—and all of it lies on the sandy bottoms of the Great Lakes.

Since the first sailing vessels navigated the lakes, where a sudden storm can whip the waters into pounding fury, there are records of lost treasure. More than 2,000 ships, loaded with currency, gold, silver, copper and oil, have gone down since 1850.

Not more than $250,000 of this underwater fortune has been salvaged. Most of it is still in the mud, rocks and sand of the treacherous lake bottoms, waiting to be found and raised.

The richest prize is in the rotting hold of the City of Detroit, which foundered in Lake Erie off Dunkirk, N. Y., in 1863. She carried $2 million in gold and copper ingots. Somewhere nearby is the Dean Richmond, tucked in her frame $141,000 in gold and silver bars. Neither of the old wrecks has been located.

ANOTHER lost wreck is that of the Lexington. She went down between Cleveland and Port Huron with $300,000 in bullion aboard, in 1846. Off Sleeping Bear Dune in Lake Michigan lies the Westmoreland, $100,000 in gold inside her rusty safe.

Some of the sunken treasure ships have been located, but nearly every salvage attempt has failed. The shifting lake bottoms and sudden storms have defeated modern nautical engineers.

SEVEN divers have been killed trying to raise the steamer Pewabic's submerged wealth of $50,000 and 300 tons of copper. She is covered by 180 feet of water, off Thunder Bay in Lake Huron. A few ventures into the lakes' depths have hit the jackpot. Divers brought up a strong box from the Southwind, off Point Pelee in Lake Erie. Currency inside was too sodden to salvage, but bags of gold coins were cashed in for more than $75,000.

The Mapledawn's whole cargo of steel was recovered from Lake Huron. The George M. Humphrey and her iron ore were hoisted from the Straits of Mackinac.

Most of the riches in the lakes were lost during America's westward expansion. Then, the men who pioneered new business and trade traveled by water and took their bankrolls with them.

THE PRODUCTS of the new lands went to market by water. Sudden storms, night collisions, foundering took lives, wealth and products.

Finding and salvaging the vast treasures of the Great Lakes is a knotty problem even for modern science. The tanker Cleveco, filled with a million gallons of oil, lies in only 26 feet of water, nine miles off Cleveland.

Engineers have proposed tapping her, pumping out the valuable cargo. However, one mistake in the operation could soak the nearby coast with a highly dangerous fire hazard.

Metal-sensitive detectors, towed by scouting ships, might locate the treasure-loaded wrecks. However, bringing their cargo to the surface is another problem.

America's "inland seas" hold their secrets as surely as the pirate's bold creed: "Dead men tell no tales."

knowledge of laws and a road test. Those applying for permanent licenses after they have passed the pre-test on the temporary license will be required to take only the road test in their examination.

Pre-tests will not be required for persons whose license has lapsed more than six months but less than a year.

FIRST THREE phases of strengthening driver license regulations, as put into effect by Felty, were:

1. Restricting issuance of chauffeurs' licenses. (Prior to the change, anyone with a regular driver's license could obtain a chauffeur's permit without an additional test. The change requires a test be taken by anyone applying for a chauffeur's license.)

2. Regulations covering incompetent drivers were strengthened and broadened. (Prior to the change, only the State Patrol cited incompetent drivers to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles and there were no restrictions on re-applying for a new permit. Under revised regulations, all traffic enforcement agencies can cite incompetent drivers and waiting periods are set up for new tests for those whose licenses are revoked.)

The appointment system was set up to both facilitate the handling of applicants and provide a better service to the public. The system also will tend to spread the workload for driver examiners so that more thorough tests could be given.

A jury convicted her of the shotgun slaying of Arrage Murray, 28, also of Akron, last July 23. The jury recommended mercy.

$10½ Million In Building For State On

COLUMBUS (AP)—Construction on $10½ million worth of building projects has been started by the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

Department Director John D. Porterfield said this figure included all but $200,000 of the $7.1 million voted by the 101st General Assembly for new construction.

He said the $11.1 million in "balancing wire" money for general repairs and rehabilitation will be used during the present biennium. The last Legislature appropriated $18 million to the department under the general additions and betterments bill which became effective last July 11.

Dr. Porterfield submitted this review of the department's completion of new construction and larger rehabilitation projects included in the funds:

censes after they have passed the pre-test on the temporary license will be required to take only the road test in their examination.

Pre-tests will not be required for persons whose license has lapsed more than six months but less than a year.

FIRST THREE phases of strengthening driver license regulations, as put into effect by Felty, were:

1. Restricting issuance of chauffeurs' licenses. (Prior to the change, anyone with a regular driver's license could obtain a chauffeur's permit without an additional test. The change requires a test be taken by anyone applying for a chauffeur's license.)
2. Regulations covering incompetent drivers were strengthened and broadened. (Prior to the change, only the State Patrol cited incompetent drivers to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles and there were no restrictions on re-applying for a new permit. Under revised regulations, all traffic enforcement agencies can cite incompetent drivers and waiting periods are set up for new tests for those whose licenses are revoked.)

The appointment system was set up to both facilitate the handling of applicants and provide a better service to the public. The system also will tend to spread the work-load for driver examiners so that more thorough tests could be given.

Akron Woman Gets Life Term

AKRON (AP)—A woman who shot a man because he kicked her dog has been sentenced to life in prison for first degree murder.

Katie Mae Hirston, 30, of Akron was sentenced to the Marysville Reformatory by Common Pleas Judge Claude Emmons.

A jury convicted her of the shotgun slaying of Arrage Murray, 28, also of Akron, last July 23. The jury recommended mercy.

$10½ Million In Building For State On

COLUMBUS (AP)—Construction on $10½ million worth of building projects has been started by the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

Department Director John D. Porterfield said this figure included all but $200,000 of the $7.1 million voted by the 101st General Assembly for new construction.

He said the $11.1 million in "balancing wire" money for general repairs and rehabilitation will be used during the present biennium.

The last Legislature appropriated $18 million to the department under the general additions and betterments bill which became effective last July 11.

Dr. Porterfield submitted this review of the department's completion of new construction and larger rehabilitation projects included in the funds:

Replacement of annex at Longview State Hospital at Cincinnati; construction of a receiving center at Columbus State School; construction of Dayton Adult Receiving Hospital; additional mental hospital facilities in the Cleveland area either by construction or by acquisition and rehabilitation; fireproofing of main building at Longview; rehabilitation of Pineridge Cottage at Columbus State School; central heating plant at Cambridge State Hospital; completion of Marion Correctional Institution and auxiliary units at the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster.

Recruits Sought

DAYTON (AP)—Brig. Gen. Arno H. Lehman, commander of the 3500th United States Air Force Recruiting Wing, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, says that for the first time in six months the USAF is accepting volunteers.

WHY BLUE CROSS IS BEST BUY

You receive Blue Cross benefits in hospital services — not some cash to apply towards paying your bill. And hospital services come high these days — usually more than any allowable cash payments.

Blue Cross provides coverage for 16 costly services including care in a semi-private room.

More than 46 million persons in the United States — or every fourth person — are subscribers. Blue Cross is the hospitals' own plan and you get the best service any hospital can furnish. It is the most LIBERAL Plan available.

Persons under 65 years of age who are self-employed or work where there are fewer than five employees may enroll.

Anyone working where there are five or more employees is eligible for membership in a payroll deduction group.

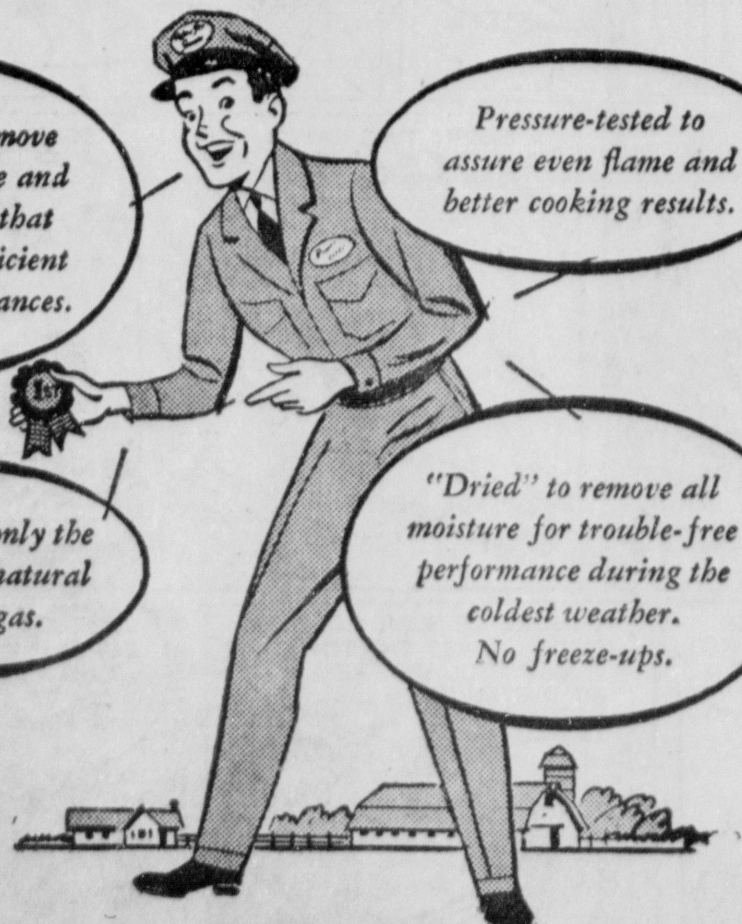

For full information on forming a payroll deduction group, visit enrollment headquarters.

Billed at home members are covered under the $25 deductible contract.
